Prisoner When Ship Is

Shore.By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Capture of the three-masted auxiliary British schooner Madeline Adams yesterday after a chase of 150 miles off the New York coast was reported today when the schooner
was brought into port with its crew of nine men as prisoners and its liquor cargo valued at $500,000, under seizure.Search for the schooner had been under way since the arrest of the two alleged rum-runners yesterday. Coast guard officials had sought for several months to trap the leaders of a group of rum runners
who, they said, had repeatedly made efforts to smuggle liquor on Government boats.Conspiracy Frustrated.
The conspiracy was frustrated
when the crew of Patrol Boat 203 pretended to accept the alleged rum-runners' proposal to smuggle 500 cases of whisky and champagne for a consideration of $4000. After the liquor had been unloaded from the schooner, the patrol boat returned to port where the two supposed agents were arrested and the 500 cases of liquor seized.After the conspiracy was frustrated the schooner from which the liquor was taken was reported to have disappeared but was finally found by the Seminoles. The schooner was towed in by the coast guard cutter and the crew held under arrest on charges of violating the Anglo-American liquor treaty.Seized 20 Miles Out.
Seizure of the schooner was made 20 miles off the United States shore. Federal officers said. Officers of the Seminoles said that shots
were fired during the chase, during which the schooner had all her hulls set and the auxiliary engine
going full speed. The pursuit, coast guards said, lasted for almost 12 hours.Federal officers estimated the Madeline Adams to be worth at least $75,000 and capable of a speed of 18 knots an hour.NEW SUPREME COURT RULES

DOGS MUST MATCH GOWNS

Owners of London Pet Shops Doing Flourishing Trade.
By Associated Press.
LONDON, April 14.—Owners of pet shops are doing a flourishing business this spring, with the coming in of the vogue for women to have pets to match their gowns, or dress schemes to correspond with the coat of their favorite dog.
Orange jumpers, which have been popular in London,
have created an unprecedented demand for little Pomeranians of this particular shade. Dealers aver that the craze continues it may be necessary for the animal shopkeepers to devise some means of dyeing the coats of lap dogs to meet the requirements of customers who insist upon dogs to match their gowns.
All kinds of little fawn, biscuit
and brown shaded dogs are in great demand just now, as they harmonize easily with the fashionable shade-rose coats, are popular for promenaders who like to have their pets on leash.

Large Baboon, in 5-Hour
Rampage, Rips Top Off Cage and Kills MonkeyWomen and Children at New York Zoo Flee in Panic—Turbulent Ape Finally Killed
by Policeman.By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Duke,
an African baboon as big as a 10-
year-old boy, ripped the iron-barred top off his cage in the Central Park monkey house, tore a neighbor monkey in two and went on a five-hour rampage which imperiled 200 women and children
and ended only when he was shot to death.The monkey house was crowded yesterday with people, mostly school children on a holiday or children with nurse maids, when Duke started his final fling. As he broke loose they stampeded for the doors, and the coolness of keepers got them to safety. The doors were barred at once, and for five hours Duke ran back and forth seeking to open other cages.Outside, police reserves held back crowds attracted by the shrill
cries of the monkeys, a leopard cat, a lynx, another baboon and a chimpanzee within.Shot by Policeman.
Then Duke learned how to open a window, and as he stood poised on the sill for a leap to the ground Patrolman Dan Beyer sent two bullets through his breast. A moment later the police entered the building and found Duke on the floor dead.Duke was 5 years old, weighed about 100 pounds and stood 4 1/2 feet high. He was purchased four months ago from a circus, where he was known as a vicious beast always ready to fight. Duke was a Chacma baboon.He had a peculiar antipathy to children, according to his keepers.
Yesterday he chattered a bit as the crowd looked at him, and then suddenly flew into a rage. Up on his sitting he sprang and grasped the bars above. Half a do. n vicious tugs and a section about 6 feet by 3 gave way. Cut jumped Duke.Kills Ring-Tailed Monkey.
In the next cage Little Paddy, a tiny ring-tailed monkey, weighing
but a pound or two, reached through bars. The baboon grabbed the monkey's head and jerked. Two bars held the body and the head
was twisted off a. a farmer
wings a chicken's neck.Standing with the monkey head
in one hand, Duke surveyed the panicky crowd below enough for all to escape. Then the keeper sought to entice him to a cage
in which fruit was placed. Duke took the fruit, but held the cage door open with one hand as he grasped the bait with the other.The other animals set up an uproar as Duke rambled around.
Guards outside suddenly saw two big hands appear on the glass of a window ten feet from the ground.
The window opened and Duke stood ready to leap. Dozens of persons below fled. But Patrolman Beyer ended Duke's rampage with his bullets.Prior to this Beyer, Head Keeper Coyle, Patrolman Hoerr and others
had entered the building to place
Duke, but had failed.Wireless Phone

LONDON, April 14.—According to a report published here today,
wireless telephone communication between London and the United States has been proved after long experiments not only possible but highly satisfactory when handled
by high-powered stations.Experts employed at the General Postoffice have been experimenting with an American station on Rock Point daily for many months, charting the results and developing the data necessary for establishment of a regular trans-Atlantic service, which probably will become available to the public before the end of this year when Great Britain's wireless station is completed at Rugby. The new station will employ an apparatus capable of developing 200 kilowatts, with serials more than 800 feet high. When plans are completed, wireless plants
on both sides of the Atlantic will connect with local exchanges
through the country.Research work in England is being conducted by a small group of experts who live a lonely life in a pine woods overlooking the town of Swinton, where they hear daily
tests from the American side.

From May, 1921, to April, 1924.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CINCINNATI, O., April 14.—
How he had paid hundreds of dollars to city detectives and patrolmen that he might operate two saloons in the West End and sell
"moonshine" whisky was recited
today by William Dillard, negro, in the United States District Court.He was a witness at the trial of Night Detectives James Hayes, Robert Kinney and Fred Buller-dick, charged by the Government with conspiring to violate the national prohibition act.A dramatic incident occurred
when Assistant United States Attorney A. Lee Beatty, stepping behind each of the defendants, asked Dillard if he could identify them.
Dillard called the officers by name
and accused Bullerdick and Hayes of accepting graft from him. He said that he had paid them $60 a month from May, 1921, to April, 1924. He said he had paid $100 a month to Lieut. Aubrey Houston, commanding officer of a relief in the Fourth Police District, $70 a month, beginning in 1923 and continuing until April, 1924.Saloon Near Police Station.
He said he did not remember exactly the date that he had begun
the payments. Patrolmen Donovan and Dubach were named by Dillard as the first two patrolmen whom he had paid money to in order that he might operate saloons
at 717 and 732 West Fifth street.
The latter address is eight doors
from the Fourth District Station.
The witness testified that Buller-dick and Hayes had arrested him
in May, 1921, on the charge of possessing liquor. He said that he had been fined $300 and costs in Municipal Court."Shortly afterward, the two detectives came to me and said that they would again arrest me, and continue the 'practice' if I did not 'come across' with regular payments of money," Dillard testified.
The witness said that his receipts
at 732 West Fifth street amounted to an average of $5000 a week.Some weeks the weekly returns were as high as $8000, he said.
Dillard detailed how he had employed a man whose business it was to usher customers in and out.
He also told of how his bar was divided into sections. At the first one could only obtain a small drink
of moonshine whisky, at the second section one could purchase a pint of liquor, and at the third, larger quantities, he said.Payments to Patrolmen.
Patrolmen Donovan and Dubach
at first only received $5 a week
each, according to Dillard. Later, he said, he increased the payments to $10 each. When the two patrolmen were made district detectives, Dillard testified, he paid them $15
a week each.He said that he understood that if he did not pay he would not be allowed to operate.
Cincinnati police and "dry"
agents of neighboring villages conducted a licensing system whereby they were paid by week, for protecting liquor law violators, said United States District Attorney Harvey E. Mau in his opening statement in the trial yesterday.Mau stated that the evidence would disclose that the indicted
men were paid by operators of soft drink establishments sums of money amounting to thousands of dollars for the illegal purpose of selling "moonshine" whisky. In some instances, the District Attorney said, the payrolls of the establishments were as high as $1500 a week. "Police officers went about collecting this graft. There was a collector for each group. He got the money and split among his colleagues," said Mau.The three detectives whose trial was begun were among 48 municipal policemen and 23 village "dry" enforcement officers indicted on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law in connection with the alleged payment of money by bootleggers and narcotic drug peddlers. Thirty-six policemen and 21 "dry" agents have pleaded guilty to the charges.BASEBALL SEASON

TIGER SAVES 2 FROM BANDITS

Beast Routs Chinese After Capture of Russians.By Associated Press.
HARBIN, March 20.—A wild Manchurian tiger saved two Russians from captivity by Chinese bandits near the station Maulin,
on the Chinese Eastern Railway yesterday. The men were seized by the notorious Hunhuize, known as the "tiger men," who were engaged in cutting firewood. They were being hustled off to the bandits'
stronghold when one of the enormous tigers for which the region is noted sprang out of the underbrush. The Hunhuize took to their heels and the tiger followed,
giving the prisoners an opportunity to escape, which was quickly seized. The tiger is said to have struck down one of the bandits.

Charles Taggart, teller at a

Bank, was shot and killed by three men who held up the bank shortly after noon today. The men scooped up an undetermined amount of money and escaped.Taggart was shot through the head and died on the way to a hospital. Less than a month ago an attempt to hold up the same bank resulted in the fatal wounding of Percy L. Hudson, a customer, who resisted two robbers. The men de-administration, said today they would be glad to serve, and praised the idea. Others declared they would want more information about the plan before deciding.Miller announced in a formal statement last night that he would appoint this advisory body. Among those whom he said he would ask to serve are Republicans and Dem-

intended asking to serve are: Clare-

Miller added, in his statement.Stephens' Comment.
"I'm very much in favor of this idea," said Stephens. In commenting on the "citizens' cabinet" today,
he said: "I think it's a wonderful move.
I'm glad to serve. I think Miller is starting out on the right track. The expressions of big business men I've heard today indicate that this is a fine thing. I'm 100 percent for it."Clarkson said: "I think it is the duty of every citizen when called upon by the Mayor to do public service for the benefit of the city.
If he thinks he can help, to do so.
I will do anything I can to help the Mayor. He has been elected Mayor of all the people and if he calls on us we ought to respond. I'll be glad to serve.""I can't say anything until I know more about the plan," said Mallinckrodt.Wade said: "Miller didn't say anything about using my name, so I have nothing to say."Rand said: "This looks like a good, sound move. It looks like a thoughtful one, rather than an impulsive one. I haven't decided whether I should serve."Kavanaugh Would Serve.
"Surely, I'd serve, if asked," Kavanaugh declared. "I feel I ought to help the Mayor."Gratz explained that he had not heard of the proposal and would not think of it over.Medart said: "I would like to know more about the plan than I have seen in the paper. It looks like a good proposition, that would do some good. This is what you want in private business, you don't leave things to one man. We ought to get better results from an advisory committee than from one man. I don't see any 'joker' or
'buck passing' in the plan.""Surely I will serve," Sommers declared. "I think this is a very good move. I think the plan will work all right if Miller gets men who will work with him."Smith said: "I haven't had time to give this thought, but rather approve of the idea of a nonpartisan advisory committee."Knight said: "I will serve with the greatest pleasure. This is a fine idea by a good Mayor. Every man asked to serve should serve."Shapleigh said: "I will be very glad to help in any way I can. I think Miller is on the right track."Geller would serve.
Geller said this morning that he had not received an invitation to serve on the "citizens' cabinet," but would be glad to do so. "I think the idea is very good," he said. "I believe a committee of that kind
would be of great help to the Mayor.
There are many large propositions confronting the new administration created by the $17,000,000
bond issue, and if I am appointed I will be glad to lend a helping hand to make the Miller

would serve in the absence of invi-of heart disease. He had been in the hospital two weeks, following a short illness at his home, 6121

years old.Less than an hour before his death, Judge Garesché had greeted his physician, and had told him that he felt better than for several days past. He was under treatment for valvular enlargement.Member of Old French Family.
The Garesché family is one of the early French families of St.
Louis, but the branch to which Judge Garesché belonged lived on the East Side, and he was born in Collinsville, Ill. He was educated in St. Louis University, and took his law studies at that university and in Benton College of Law. He was married in 1896 to Miss Katherine Lee Rowe of Waterloo, Ill.After being admitted to the bar, Garesché was associated with the firms of Garesché & Associates, and Henry Hitchcock, a noted lawyer.
He was appointed City Attorney by Mayor Kriesmann in 1911, and held that office until the office
was abolished by the new charter.
In 1915 a vacancy was tendered to him on his retirement.He became associated with the law firm of Spencer & Donnell,
the head of which, Selden P. Spencer, was elected in 1918 to the United States Senate. In 1916 Garesché ran fourth in the Republican primary vote for 7 nominations to the Circuit bench. He was elected and served a 6-year term, but did not seek re-election in 1922, as he was then a candidate for appointment to a Federal judgeship, a second position as Judge here having been created by Congress.Urged for Federal Bench.
Senator Spencer backed Garesché and urged first President Harding and later President Coolidge to name him to the position, but the effort was unsuccessful, and Circuit Judge Charles B. Davis was eventually appointed by President Coolidge.While serving as Judge of the Juvenile Court, Judge Garesché
recommended a number of changes in the methods of handling children at the House of Detention.
Important cases which he decided
as a civil judge were the Julius S.
Walsh, David Nation and Henry
Wood estate cases, and the Har-gaine-McKittick Dry Goods Co. re-ceivership.Judge Hartmann, in Juvenile Court today, set aside a page of the court's minutes to record the death of Judge Garesché, with especial mention of his activity in establish-

COURT HAS HELD VITAL IN CONTEST

Decision of Missouri's Highest Tribunal in 1917 Expected to Affect Proposed Fight for Igoe.

NO RULING AS YET ON BLANKET BALLOT

Contended That Mistakes in Marking Tickets in Mayoralty Poll Clearly Damaged Democrat.

A BALLOT is to be construed in the same way as any other written or printed document, and the construction must be such as to give effect to the voter's intention. Ballots should be liberally construed, and the construction should be in favor of a reading which will render the ballot effective, rather than some conclusion which will render it ineffective. Opinion of Missouri Supreme Court, 1917.

The intent of the voter is the thing to be determined in counting ballots, under a decision of the Missouri Supreme Court eight years ago, which is believed to have a vital bearing on the proposed contest, in behalf of William L. Igoe, against the election of Victor J. Miller as Mayor of St. Louis. The Supreme Court has not yet passed on the blanket ballot law of 1921, under which last week's city election was held. The law, as amended then, provides a strict system of cross-marking ballots in spaces provided for the purpose, and this takes the place of the former system of scratching names. Under the new law, Attorney-General Barrett advised the Election Board that scratches should be disregarded. He held that when a cross-mark was made under a party emblem, and any candidate's name was scratched, the scratch should be disregarded, and the cross-mark should prevail, giving the vote to the person scratched.

Blanket Ballot Law.
The blanket ballot law, section 4569 of the statutes, says: "Should the voter desire to vote a 'straight' party ticket, he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name. If the voter desires to vote a 'split' ticket, he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name, and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote."

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose names do not appear on the printed ballot, he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of the candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of the person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross-mark in the square at the left of such name.

It shall not be lawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner or to erase any printed name, except as provided above in this law. It is contended by those opposed to a contest, the old method of scratching a printed name is recognized as lawful only when it is done in favor of some person whose name is not printed on the ballot, and the voter wishes to write such person's name in. There is a provision for scratching in certain cases where groups of candidates are running against other groups, such as candidates for the Circuit Court and the Legislature, but this has no application to last week's election, in which all candidates were single.

Igoe Suffered by Mistakes.
Attorney-General Barrett's opinion, which the Election Board instructed precinct judges and clerks to follow in making the count, construed this law strictly. Though three previous elections were held with the blanket ballot, and the number of spoiled ballots in those elections was large, it did not appear that the mistakes affected any one candidate more seriously than they affected his opponent.

But in last week's election, leading Democrats held the mistakes chiefly damaged Igoe. The Democratic candidate ran ahead of his ticket. This is taken by the Demo-

Election Board holds this to have been the illegal way for a Republican voter to cast his vote for Igoe. Some did it this way, and their votes, counted for Miller, may be basis of a contest. There were also votes wrongly marked by Democrats trying to vote for Miller, and these were counted for Igoe, but their number is believed to have been much smaller, as Miller ran behind his ticket and Igoe ran ahead of his ticket.

THE RIGHT WAY

As prescribed by blanket ballot statute, for a Republican voter to vote for Igoe.

crats to mean that more Republicans voted for Igoe than Democrats voted for Miller. Therefore, they argue, the number who scratched Miller's name and wrote in Igoe's when they should have used cross marks instead, was larger than the number who scratched Igoe's name and wrote in Miller's name. Following the Election Board instructions and Barrett's opinion, the precinct officials counted for Miller all ballots on which Miller's name had been scratched and Igoe's written, and counted for Igoe all ballots on which Igoe had been scratched and Miller's name written.

Contest Would Test Law.
Inasmuch as they were following the law, a contest on Igoe's part is likely to lead to a test of the law before the Supreme Court. In 1917, the Supreme Court passed on the contest of John H. Bradley, Democratic candidate for the Springfield Court of Appeals, against Judge Argus Cox, who was re-elected to that court in 1916 on the face of the returns. It was shown that in Marion County the election officials by mistake had omitted Bradley's name from the ballot and instead had placed on the ballot the name of Arch Johnson, who had been defeated in the primary by Bradley.

The Court held that the ballots cast for Johnson, where there was no scratching to indicate other intent, should be counted for Bradley, as indicating the intent of the voter to elect Bradley. The regular nominee for the office, Bradley was declared elected, as the votes gained in Marion County under the court decision gave him a small lead.

Opinion Written by Blair.
In that decision, the Court made the statement, already quoted, that the voter's intent was the thing to be determined. The opinion in the Bradley case was written by James T. Blair, then a Judge of the Supreme Court, now a St. Louis lawyer and a member of the legal committee which has reported on the legal phases of the proposed contest.

The legal committee has reported that, in principle, ballots which the voter clearly meant to mark for Igoe should be counted for Igoe. But it holds that a contest should not be inaugurated unless it appears that the irregularities are large enough to affect the result.

Calculation as to Errors.
A calculation made by W. H. Hughes, executive secretary of the Igoe campaign committee, on the basis of statements made to him by Democratic precinct officials, is to the effect that the mistakes which counted against Igoe, over and over those which counted against Miller, averaged 3 to 1. For every mistake which counted against Igoe, there would be three mistakes which counted against Miller. The Democratic City Committee yesterday voted unanimously in favor of a contest. The legal committee meets again today, to consider the estimate made by Hughes. Igoe

IGOE CONTEST UP TO COMMITTEE OF ATTORNEYS

Former Judge Priest and Other Lawyers to Pass on Affidavits as to Scratched Ballots.

Whether William L. Igoe, defeated Democratic candidate for Mayor, will be asked to contest the election of Mayor-elect Victor J. Miller, who won on the face of official returns by 3129, will be determined today at a meeting of leading Democrats in the office of former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest.

Evidence gathered from Democratic election officials in affidavit form for the past several days will be presented to a committee, of which Priest is chairman, for consideration. W. H. Hughes, executive secretary of the Igoe Campaign Committee, has spent several days gathering evidence of this sort, and now has some 200 affidavits from scattered precincts asserting that approximately 1000 votes were counted for Miller in instances where the name of Miller had been scratched and that of Igoe written in.

Intent of Voters the Issue.

This ruling was given in accordance with the terms of an opinion written by former Attorney-General Barrett and was put into effect in the absence of a court decision. Barrett held that in instances where a voter placed a cross in the circle at the head of a party ticket, except in instances where he placed a cross in the square to the left of the names of candidates on other tickets, he held that if a voter placed a cross at the head of the party ticket, scratched the name of one candidate on that ticket and wrote in the name of another candidate on another ticket, he voted incorrectly and ordered the ballot counted for the man scratched.

The possibility of a contest revolves about this point. Democrats assert that the apparent intention of the voter in instances where Miller was scratched and Igoe was written in was clearly to vote for Igoe and that the converse where Igoe was scratched and Miller written in represented a clear intention to vote for Miller.

COOLIDGE LIKES HANDSHAKING.
BARS 50 VISITORS A MINUTE
He Gladly Extends Privilege.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Plans of White House officials to cut down the size of the crowd which is permitted each noon to shake hands with President Coolidge went by the board today after it became known that the President does not consider it an ordeal but rather enjoys it.

Instructions to thin out the handshakers were given after a new proposal, so far as Mr. Coolidge is concerned, was set Saturday, when nearly 1000 persons filed through his office. This was done in an effort to conserve the President's strength and time and apparently without his knowledge.

The suggestion was made to Mr. Coolidge today that instead of shaking hands it might do well to herd his callers into the yard back of his office so that he might make a brief speech each day. This proposal was not looked on favorably by Mr. Coolidge, who feels that handshaking gives him contact with the public which he could not obtain in any other way.

SURVEY ARE DISCUSSED
Executive Committee of Association for Criminal Justice Holds Meeting.

The scope and methods of the State-wide crime and punishment survey to be made by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice were discussed by the executive committee of the association in the board room of the Mercantile Trust Co. today.

Among those in attendance were Chancellor Hadley of Washington University, chairman of the executive committee; former Judge Thomas H. Jennings, H. J. Pettigrew, former Senator W. C. Willard, J. P. McNamee of Columbia, Leslie J. Lyons of Kansas City, Leo Fuller, Mrs. Howard Bailey, Mrs. Irvin Bettman, Dr. E. P. North, Mrs. Rose M. Ohaus of Kansas City, Joseph A. Sereno of Cape Girardeau and Col. Sanford Sellers of Mexico.

The plans thus far made for the survey were submitted to the committee by Arthur V. Lashly, managing director, and a talk on methods was made by Alfred Bettman of Cincinnati, who conducted a similar survey in Cleveland.

BRIAND REFUSES TASK OF FORMING FRENCH CABINET

Decision Made in View of Difficult Conditions Laid Down by Socialist-Republican Group.

PARIS, April 14.—Ex-Premier Briand, shortly after 6 o'clock this evening, definitely decided to abandon the attempt to form a Cabinet in succession to the Herriot ministry.

Briand announced his determination not to form a ministry of the Socialist-Republican group, to which he belongs, basing it on the refusal of the Socialists to collaborate and the conditions they wished to exact in return for support. He considered the conditions incompatible with his conception of the role of Premier.

The national council of the Socialist Party by a unanimous vote this afternoon decided that the party would refrain from participation in a Briand Government.

The Socialists' decision for non-participation referred only to a ministry headed by Briand. It left the way open for participation in any other ministry formed by a Premier acceptable to the Socialists.

The former Premier is said to have been aware of the Socialist attitude since yesterday morning, and the fact that he continued his consultations was explained by his desire to settle once for all the question whether the Socialists should be allowed to remain in the policy of the Government without shouldering any of the responsibilities.

During his conference with President Doumergue, Briand suggested that Paul Painleve be invited to form a cabinet. President Doumergue probably will call Painleve to the palace tonight and ask him to form a ministry.

It is believed that Painleve will recommend a Cabinet headed by a member of the Senate, most likely Rene Renoult, a Socialist leader and Minister of Justice in the Cabinet which has just resigned.

Around the lobbies of the Senate it is said that the Renoult combination has already tentatively formed a Cabinet, which would include a Minister of Foreign Affairs and an important portfolio for former Premier Herriot.

Opposition to Briand in the radical party grew this morning after the Socialist attitude was clearly defined, and there was a growing demand for a revamped Herriot ministry. Fear that the Senate would not accept as Premier a man it threw down last week modified the ardor of Herriot's supporters.

One else, a disposition to accept a Cabinet presided over by someone else, but in which their leader would have a prominent post.

Herriot, they say, is just the man to preside over the important municipal and cantonal elections in May, which is taken as indication that they will push him for the post of Minister of Justice.

No 48-Hour Ministry.
The idea of a "48-hour" ministry for the purpose of presenting before Parliament for its ratification a bill authorizing the Bank of France to increase the legal circulation of 4,500,000,000 to 45,000,000,000 francs, has been abandoned.

The idea of a 48-hour Cabinet came from M. Robineau, Governor of the Bank of France, and M. de Monzie, Minister. They were based on M. Briand with the object of winning him over to their viewpoint. Briand convinced them it was an inopportune move, contending that the country, officially informed by last week's statement that the bank had exceeded the legal limit of circulation, had not become panicky, and could face the situation for another week.

The agreement reached between Finance Minister De Monzie and the Bank of France, authorizing the issue of 4,000,000,000 francs in additional currency is to be ratified at a special meeting of the Chamber of Deputies at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and then by the Senate at 5 p. m. This was announced after an interview today by M. De Monzie and Governor Robineau of the Bank of France.

Chairman Joseph J. Mostre went to Igoe's office to see him about the action but Igoe was not there. Robert J. Kratky, manager of Miller's campaign, said he had no fear of a contest and expressed the belief that Miller's total would grow on a recount. Chairman Louis J. Becker and Treasurer Martin Scherer of the Republican City Committee said they had taken no steps as yet to secure affidavits but would do so within 24 hours after a contest was instituted.

HOW M'CUTCHAN BOUGHT BANK WITH ITS OWN MONEY

Gave Check on Bank Itself and Deed to Depository's Real Estate for More Than Half of Purchase Price.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LADUE, Mo., April 14.—A grand jury investigation of the failure of the Bank of Ladue, six weeks after control of it was acquired by associates of Jerome B. McCutchan of St. Louis, was begun today at Clinton, seat of Henry County. The bank was established in 1912.

McCutchan was an intimate friend of Frank C. Millsaps, whose administration of the office of State Finance Commissioner, from which he was removed by Gov. Baker, is being investigated by Attorney-General Otto. As has been told, McCutchan is at liberty on $25,000 bond, charged in two warrants with theft of notes for $18,000 from the defunct Citizens' Trust Co. of Gorin, Mo., which he organized.

State Bank Examiner J. D. Freund, who took charge of the Bank of Ladue April 4, found little cash on hand. Moreover, McCutchan had written to a Kansas City realty firm relative to the selling of his 53 shares of the bank stock. McCutchan and a business associate, E. E. Weeks of Kansas City, thereupon came here and interviewed Hoppeler. They did not succeed in making the deal.

In January, however, they returned here, accompanied by Ed Parsley and Ralph E. Page of Ottawa, Kan., and S. C. Goff of Blocton, Ia. The five then contracted to pay Hoppeler $8000 for his stock.

Later on the deal was consummated, and Hoppeler received a cashier's check for $3000 on the National City Bank of St. Louis, a $2500 check on the Canton (Mo.) Trust Co., known as the "Millsaps Trust," which closed the deal by a deed for $1500 worth of real estate owned by the Bank of Ladue. No entry was made in the minutes of the Bank of Ladue authorizing the deed of the $1500 worth of realty and no change was made in the list of real estate carried by the bank.

McCutchan Checks Sent Back. To protect the Canton Trust Co. on the $3500 check, McCutchan gave it a check for the same amount on the Bank of Ladue. Hoppeler still was in charge, and because no funds were on deposit to take care of the check, he turned it down and marked it "insufficient funds." At the time, Weeks was not in the bank. Because of his action, Hoppeler was released from his duties despite the fact he had agreed to stay in the bank and assist Weeks in getting acquainted with its customers as long as necessary. With Weeks in place of Hoppeler, and a majority of "McCutchan men" on the board of directors, the check was again presented, and this time it was honored. This $3500, in the form of a "cash item," was one of the claims against McCutchan.

From the foregoing it appears that the $8000 stock was actually acquired by the new owners for $3000 at the most, the Bank of Ladue unwittingly paying the rest. An investigation of the $3000 check is being made to determine whether the Ladue Bank really cost its purchasers anything.

Loans to McCutchan's Friends.
With Weeks in active charge of the bank, McCutchan and the others had marked for their paper. Besides the $3500 cash item, records show the following loans were made to McCutchan and his friends:

S. C. Goff, $1000.
L. Jay Goff, $1500.
J. C. Kirkpatrick, $1200.
E. E. Weeks, $600.
M. C. Starr, $500.
J. B. McCutchan, $250.
The accounts of McCutchan, Pake and Kirkpatrick are overdrawn. Further, the books indicate that the bank paid Weeks his salary from January on, although ownership did not change until Feb. 21. It is held that Weeks' salary from Jan. 5, when he arrived at Ladue, to Feb. 21, should have been paid by others than the bank.

Prosecuting Attorney Wesner of Henry County and Assistant Attorney-General Vandewater have cooperated in obtaining witnesses for the grand jury. At Circuit Judge Calver's direction, a jury panel has been summoned to inquire into the failure, and if warranted by the evidence to institute criminal proceedings.

The packing business which has risen to the attacks upon the law, is on the verge of a crisis. The law is on the verge of compelling employers to continue. explained, compelled the parties to a labor controversy, without their consent, to submit to the arbitration, having no voice in the settlement, and there was no escape from the conclusion that it provided compulsory arbitration when reviewed from the standpoint of its purpose rather than its name.

Asserting that the evidence showed that interference with interstate trade was neither desired nor intended, Justice Sutherland declared that such building materials as had been brought into the State during the labor dispute, had come to rest within the State and had ceased to be a part of interstate commerce.

Considering that the aggregate value of the material brought into the State did not exceed a few thousand dollars in comparison with the expenditure of $100,000 for the construction of buildings during the controversy, he said, a showing had not been made to satisfy the courts that there had been a conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce.

In an opinion delivered by Justice Van Devanter, the Court recalled that the present case, arising out of a protest by the Charles Wolf Packing Co. against an order of the Industrial Court fixing the hours of labor in its plants, was not the first time the State had been before for consideration. The fixing of wages in the same company's plant by the Industrial Court previously had been held unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court refused to pass upon the question whether the fixing of the hours of labor would be valid if independent of a compulsory arbitration system, applicable to all business of a particular class, declaring that the case before it did not require it to go that far.

Pointing out that the jurisdiction of the Industrial Court has been confined by the statute creating it to certain so-called essential industries, and did not extend to the fixing of wages or hours of labor generally, Justice Van Devanter asserted it constituted a system of compulsory arbitration. The act, he

POLL OFFICIALS OF ONE PRECINCT CITED

Board's Instructions in Counting Ballots Alleged to Have Been Violated.

Election officials of the First Precinct, Fifteenth Ward, today were cited to appear before the Board of Election Commissioners to count and compare ballots to the recent election in the manner prescribed by the board.

Citation was based upon a letter to the board signed by a Republican judge in that precinct, Howard F. Grimm of 208 Virginia avenue, a son of former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm, who was a candidate for Mayor in the Republican primary. Grimm stated that Republican ballots were counted by a Republican judge and clerk, and Democratic ballots by a Democratic judge and clerk.

Since the instructions of the board were that all the officials should count and compare all the ballots, he wrote, he telephoned for advice to the officials of the board, but the others persisted in their own method after they were told by telephone that instructions must be followed to the letter.

The board also requested Henry Spencer of 1414 Rowan avenue, a son of former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Spencer, to return their communication. Complaint was made that the judges of election were waiving buttons of their respective parties candidates for Mayor in their precinct. No. 20, Twenty-second Ward.

RED-HEAD SPARROWS TRAPPED

BOSTON, April 14.—The eyes of red-headed English sparrows which Boston police have been striving vainly to classify, have been traced by police investigation to the hobby of a Dorchester man. Some of the strange-sounding birds were captured.

As a result of an investigation by police and agents of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a Dorchester man, who has been brought into court, when he admitted that for some months he had been spending his leisure moments in trapping sparrows, gluing red flannel cloth to their heads and releasing them to their millinery in the face of their feathered companions.

ARTICLE PUBLISHED IN POST-DISPATCH

Statement That of James Overstreet on the Shooting of Frances Gallinski by Louis Bernero.

The testimony of James Overstreet, alias James Ripley, former leader of an organized band of bank robbers in Southern Illinois, concerning the murder last July of Frances Gallinski in a roadside house near East St. Louis would be sufficient to obtain the death penalty against Louis Bernero in the opinion of State's Attorney Lindauer of St. Clair County, who has charge of the prosecution of Bernero on a charge of murdering the girl.

"If Overstreet will testify to facts he related to a Post-Dispatch reporter, which were printed in last Sunday's True Life section of the Post-Dispatch, it will change the status of the State's case from a very weak one to an exceptionally strong one," State's Attorney Lindauer said today.

Lindauer stated that he intends to go the latter part of the week to McAlister, Ok., where Overstreet is serving a 25-year sentence on a charge of robbing a bank at Shawnee, to interview him and make preparations to take him to Belleville later during the present term of court.

Withdraws 20-Year Offer.
Immediately after reading Sunday's Overstreet's eyewitness account of the murder Lindauer said he withdrew an offer he had made to Bernero to serve 20 years in the penitentiary on the charge.

"The State was willing to accept a plea on these conditions because practically the only evidence we had was the statement of Bernero, a confessed perjurer, and his own confession that he shot her in self-defense," Lindauer explained. "Witnesses to the murder had testified that the Gallinski girl was shot by a party of automobiles who fired on her as she stood outside the roadside house, and they related that the automobile then sped away."

"One woman, Mrs. Julia Vollmer, who was with the Gallinski girl at the roadside, has been indicted for perjury as a result of her testimony at the Coroner's inquest and recently she has expressed a desire to tell the truth about the shooting. Her testimony probably would corroborate that of Overstreet if we were to use her as a witness against Bernero."

A circumstance in connection with the shooting that has always been a mystery to authorities was the statement of motorcycle policemen who reported that they were shot at near the roadside shortly after the girl was shot by several men in a large touring car. In his statement to the Post-Dispatch Overstreet relates that he and Charlie Greene, who is still being sought by authorities, fired five shots at the policemen as they drove away from the roadside immediately after the shooting in Greene's handcar touring car.

Overstreet's explanation of this point concerns me that he is telling the truth as he is never able to learn who it was that fired five shots at the policemen," Lindauer stated.

In his statement to the Post-Dispatch Overstreet said that Frances Gallinski, who he knew only as "Marie, the Moll," was killed by Louis Bernero, because she was suspected of being an informer for Joseph Schneider, a private detective of St. Louis, who has been instrumental in breaking up Overstreet's gang.

Motive of the Shooting.
Bernero wanted to "get in solid" with the gang and he was told that if he killed the Gallinski girl he would be taken in. Shortly after he had agreed to kill her the touring car, he said, according to Overstreet, shot her, and she died at a house in East St. Louis, refusing to name her slayer.

Overstreet stated that after the girl was shot he learned that she was not Schneider's "moll pizcon." He was sent out to avenge her death by killing her slayer. He related that Bernero left the State after the shooting, promising to bring edit from being carried out.

The murder of the girl remained unknown until last October, although underworld gossip had been afloat for some time. Bernero was caught in St. Louis last October by police of the St. Louis District, and he was found in a house on N. 10th street and found a quantity of whisky. Those in the house were arrested. Bernero was arrested.

Conscience stirred the police: "I got for the murder." He has been in time to learn his statement, police man named Bernero for the murder of Frances Gallinski.

CROWD UP ALL NIGHT

Explorer and Party Arrive at Spitzbergen on Way to North Pole.

BY BJORN BUNKHOLDT.
Special Cable to the Post-Democrat and the Chicago Daily News. (Copyright, 1925.)

OLSO, April 14.—Roald Amundsen and his polar expedition have arrived at King's Bay, Spitzbergen. His departure from Tromsø for Spitzbergen last Thursday morning was in accordance with his custom of trying to start his polar expeditions unobserved.

Arriving at Tromsø from different places, the flying machines from Pisa via Narvik, the aviator on a packet boat from Trondheim, the German mechanicians by train and boat, and Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth of the United States traveling independently of the others, the whole party was assembled at Tromsø, Monday, April 6.

Loading of the freighter Hobbs began immediately. The cases in which the instruments were packed were so big that it was difficult to get them aboard. The weather was excellent until Wednesday night, when a snowstorm started.

Crowd Assembles.

News leaked out that Amundsen intended to start during the night of Wednesday. Tromsø's choir assembled outside of Amundsen's the entire population of the town was gathered outside and Amundsen had to acknowledge the tribute smilingly, and confess that the plan was to slip away on board the Hobby at 4 o'clock in the morning on Maundy Thursday.

It is estimated here that one tests at Kings Bay, thus enabling the expedition to start for Danish Island perhaps by April 20. It is only six or seven hours' flight from Danish Island to the North Pole. Everything indicates that Amundsen has a chance to conquer the Pole before the British expedition under Algemundsen.

Amundsen will take three men in each airplane, with provisions for one month, in addition to skis, sledges and parachutes. Each machine will be able to carry three tons.

Motors Best Possible.

Amundsen has two 100-hp. engines.

ed by the Dormier Works and the motors are the very best possible.
The Rolls-Royce Co. sent several cases containing the latest developments of their works and laboratory. The cleverest experts are following the expedition to Spitzbergen to render assistance to the last moment.

The explorer has started again
that he is certain he will find extensive plains for emergency landings. The provisions consist of pernican, cream chocolate, oat blascuits, milk powder and coffee. In the danger of the aviators falling asleep during the flight to the pole, but if one does, Amundsen says, the sleeper will get a sufficiently strong kick from the observer to keep him awake. The observer will give a sack of boding hot, strong coffee, to keep him
awake.

ANCIENT FORT FOUND IN NORTH DAKOTA

Two Stone Hatchets, Antedating Indians, Also Unearthed Near Mandan.

By the Associated Press.
MANDAN, N. D., April 14.—Discovery of ancient fortifications, three miles south of Pierre, in Oliver County, which antedate the Lewis and Clark expedition, and the legends of the Mandan Indian tribes, was announced today by Maj. A. B. Welch, Mandan Postmaster, Indian student and historian.

Maj. Welch, with L. F. Crawford, curator of the North Dakota Historical Society, and F. W. Wildshute, archeologist, a week ago accidentally found the ancient stronghold while on a trip to the site of the ancient Mandan villages at Fort Clark, 10 miles farther north.

Maj. Welch since has visited the site and plans to explore the ruins during the coming summer.

Coincident with the finding of the fort, Welch was presented today with two perfect specimens of granite hatchets found on Bird's Hill Peak, on the Hart River, 13 miles south of Mandan. These two hatchets, one about four and the other about six inches long, have cutting blades about two inches wide.

"They are decidedly different from anything made and used by the Sioux or Mandan Indians, and are identical in form with the axes used during the stone ages in the British Isles, Germany, France and other places," Welch said. "I have never seen any similar axes used or made by the more modern day tribes and I am convinced that they are relics of some prehistoric race."

The axes were turned up by Frank Weinhandl while plowing. The fortification in the Pierre vicinity may be a relic of the same prehistoric people. It is located on the second bench of land back from the Missouri River, embraces about six acres and is as strategically laid out as any trench system used in the World War.

ANGLER LANDS HUMAN 'FISH' IN 8 MINUTES

English Doctor for the Second Time Wins Contest With Expert Swimmer.

BATH, England.—An exciting contest between a "human fish" on the end of a line and an angler, armed with a light 18-foot rod, was witnessed at the Municipal baths.

The "fish," Professor Bob Canning, had challenged Dr. Charles Begg, a West Country angler, declaring that he would resist the doctor's efforts to "land" him for 15 minutes.

In full fishing rig, including waders and heavy boots, who was attached to the angler's line by a special headgear, designed by the doctor.

At times the rod was bent almost double by the efforts of the "fish" but the angler always appeared to have the game well in hand, and after skillfully playing his catch for 7 minutes 35 seconds, drew the exhausted "fish" to the side of the bath, thus winning the contest with over 7 minutes to spare.

Eighteen years ago the two had a similar contest. On that occasion the doctor landed Canning in 8 minutes 25 seconds.

DIAMOND JUBILEE

Back in 1850A NEWS ITEM
April 6, 1850

CALIFORNIA CONTRIVANCES. Since people will go to California, driving mules as well as every other stubborn animal, we recommend them by all means go to T. Cray's, No. 90 Second street, and fit out with his California Hopples. They are very ingenious contrivances which no mule or Indian can get off, and will put a stop to stampeding. They are made for the front or side foot, and are decidedly superior to anything else we have seen for the purpose. No Californian should be without them—and if some of them would put them on their own feet before they start it would be all the better.

June 10, 1850

We are told that an ingenious citizen of Augusta, Ga., has invented a new steam fire pump, or engine, which is said to perform wonders. By the use of the pump, two streams of water can be thrown over the largest three-story house, and it will easily convey two powerful streams as far as the hose attached will reach, and yet lose little of its force. At any time of the day or night, with two men to work it, steam can be raised in the short space of ten minutes. This is certainly a valuable invention.

meeting of the Catholic Leaders'
Training Course, held by the St.
Louis Council of the Boy Scouts of America at the Knights of Columbus Hall, last night. The service rendered to the youth of the large city by the Boy Scout organization was the keynote of his discussion."The present-day boy needs leadership in recreation," he stated. "His opportunities for healthful fun are greatly restricted in a city, in spite of parks and playgrounds. Play on sidewalks and streets is unsatisfactory and dangerous. There is a lack of sponta-activity."

"The Boy Scout movement is avaluable antidote to the poisons of learns service to others, the habit of discipline, and how to exert his own resources to find the finer things in life."

GIRL, 15, TRIES TO KILL SELF

Florence Danville in Hospital, After Drinking Denatured Alcohol.Florence Danville, 15-year-old ward of the Big Sisters Organization, attempted suicide at 4 p. m.
yesterday by drinking denatured alcohol in the home of Mrs. Anna Fitzgerald, 5343 Wells avenue, with whom she was living. The girl told Mrs. Wells that she had been "keeping company with a bad girl
and had told lies."
She was taken to the city hospital in a serious condition. Her parents,

imir Karapetoff discuss "the critical case of Theta sub ab equals
O," before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers today, he was the college professor, the professor of electrical engineering at Cornell University. To the alumni of Cornell whom he addressed at another meeting today, he was
"Kary," Karapetoff, engineer, mathematician, philosopher, psychologist, lecturer, poet, pianist,
"cellist, inventor, together with a number of other things rolled into the personality of a little five-foot
man, who, by his own admission, were a 44-size coat.But to the stranger and the intimate friend one thing alike was noticeable, the smile that never left his face and his scope of activities
at which he himself even in the discussion of mathematics. His greatly varied activities have been developed, and he presents a departure to the general rule that the college professor is highly specialized in one subject. Karapetoff is a specialist in many.The utilization of all his mental faculties is given by Karapetoff as the means by which he has attained such great knowledge in so many widely diversified fields."If I have a mathematical problem that I am unable to solve at the time, I get the elements clearly in my mind, analyze my problem clearly, and turn to something else. It may be a half hour, it may be several days, but my subconscious mind will give me my solution finally. I am able to do this only in subjects in which I have specialized. I could not do it in some subject with which I was not familiar. That would, in truth, be wizardry, but there is no wizardry about this. It is merely the result of cultivation.What might be called a "quiet evening at home," according to his description, would see him seated before a piano, entertaining himself by playing. At the same time his wife reads history to him and he outlines in his mind a lecture
for his next day's classes."Like others, I have sought unity in my interpretation of the universe. However, either I have a "compartmental" mind, or else
I haven't enough brains to get such unity. So I have replaced unity with a multiplicity of definite "threads of activity," as I call them. Teaching is a definite thread, research and invention in electricity is another thread, history and music are two more. I am offended when people call me
versatile because I try to be thorough in a few lines which I carry."An Accomplished Cellist.
Combining his knowledge of physics and engineering and his love of music, Karapetoff has invented a five-stringed cello. "The range of the regular cello is an octave and a half below that of the violin, and the upper string is practically the only one for solo work, because the others lie below
the range of the piano accompaniment. Bach felt the shortcoming of the cello 150 years ago and tried to add a fifth string, an "E" above
the regular "A," but failed.As a pianist and cellist he is equally accomplished and he has toured the United States giving recitals. His favorite composers are Mendelssohn, Brahms and Debussy.
Karapetoff was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and obtained his early education principally in Russia and in Germany. He came to America when a youth and has remained here since, except for brief visits abroad. He has served as consulting engineer for several outstanding electrical concerns and was a member of the International Jury of Awards at the San Francisco exposition in 1915.Karapetoff was employed by an exhibitor at the St. Louis exposition in 1904 and was married here
at that time. He has written en-

OFFICIALS ARGUED

Supreme Court Hears Right of President to Remove at Will Questioned.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The constitutional prerogatives of Congress and of the executive in the matter of removal from office of persons appointed by the President is before the third co-ordinate branch of the Government, the Supreme Court.

A distinguished audience listened to the argument yesterday, including former Justice McKenna, who heard the case in its earlier stages, before it reached its present importance through intervention of the Senate in a case brought by the late Frank S. Myers. Myers contended that his removal as Postmaster at Portland, Ore., in 1920, by President Wilson, was illegal.

The case presented directly the question of the constitutionality of an act of Congress which provides that postmasters of the first, second and third class can be appointed and "removed" only with the advice and consent of the Senate. Myers based his suit for back pay on the claim that his removal was illegal because the name of his successor was not submitted to the Senate until after the four-year term of office had expired.

Arguments Delayed.
Recognizing the importance of the dispute between the legislative and executive branches of the Government, the Supreme Court granted twice the time usually allowed for the oral argument of cases. Owing to a large number of opinions and orders issued by the court, yesterday, however, the case was not reached for argument until late in the afternoon, and it will be concluded today.

Argument was opened by Will R. King, counsel for the Myers estate, and Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania was presenting the Senate's views when court adjourned. After Senator Pepper concludes, Solicitor-General Beck will argue in defense of the President's position.

The argument yesterday emphasized the contention that the Constitution created certain offices and delegated to Congress the right to create others. Under this right to create, it was contended, Congress has the power to impose conditions as to tenure, pay, how the appointments should be made and how incumbents could be removed.

In delegating to the President the right to appoint, the court was told, Congress had the power to provide that the appointments should be effective only when approved by the Senate, and could, when it thought expedient, provide that a person appointed and confirmed could be removed only with the consent of the Senate.

The Solicitor-General will base his argument today on the contention that the constitutional power of Congress extends only to the creation of offices and how they may be filled, but that the President, being charged with administration, must have unimpaired liberty to remove those whose tenure, because of inefficiency or for any other reason, is found detrimental to the best interests of the Government.

FLEET STARTS FOR HAWAII

Flagship Seattle Leaves for Joint Army-Navy Maneuvers.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 14.—Departure of the U. S. S. Seattle, flagship of the United States fleet, for Hawaii yesterday, marked the beginning of the exodus of the grand fleet of the United States for the war games in the waters of the island territory. The most extensive and important joint army-navy maneuver ever held in the Pacific is contemplated.

Although the Seattle carried the four-starred flag of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander in chief of the fleet, she has relinquished temporarily her position as flagship of the armada. For the purposes of the maneuvers she is neutral, as she is the umpire ship, carrying the high ranking officers who will decide "who won the war," after the smoke of battle has cleared away from the scene of the coming conflict between the "blue" fleet and the "black" or enemy force, which theoretically holds the islands. Admiral Coontz and Major-General John L. Heinz, chief of staff of the army, are the senior umpires designated by the Navy and War departments to supervise the maneuvers, render judgment after the conclusion of the war game and make such suggestions or recommendations as may be appropriate.

DIVERS TO EXPLORE SUBMERGED CITY

It Is Off Tunis Coast, in Channel Swept by Strong Undercurrent.

By COUNT BYRON DE PROVOC.
Copyright, 1920, by New York Times Co.

ISLAND OF DJERBA, Off Coast of Tunis, April 14.—A reconnoitering trip which I have made over this site where the ancient city is reported to be submerged in the Gulf of Bougara shows it will be more difficult to examine it closely than anticipated. The spot is a virtual death trap, being located where the gulf narrows into a channel a mile wide, with strong undercurrent and many swirling eddies, believed to be caused by buried houses.

I went out to examine it in a small sailboat with the old native sponge diver, Messideh Benwehha, who discovered the city. The area he indicated for the city was roughly 300 yards long and 200 wide. Our apparatus for seeking the bottom of the sea proved inefficient under the weather conditions prevailing, but I took soundings, showing that the depth varied from 50 to 70 feet.

Water Too Cold for Divers. While the native sponge divers of Djerba have developed astonishing powers of resisting the pressure of the sea and are capable of diving naked 100 feet below the surface and staying under there for three minutes, the unusually low temperature recently has chilled the water too much for them to dive to the depth of the city now. They also have a superstitious respect for it since one of them who dived to explore it never returned, having been caught, it is believed, in one of the buried houses.

I plan to return here for a couple of weeks in May, or in the summer, with professional divers and diving bells to make an adequate survey of this mysterious city in the sea.

According to Louis Pagnon, Governor of the island, and local divers who have carried on as much exploration as the equipment permitted, it is built on a slope with steep streets. At least 15 houses are standing, with walls as much as 16 feet high, some with their stairways, some with their columns in place.

Whirlpool Over Submerged City. A whirlpool zone, which is all that marks this watery Pompeii, is much nearer to the mainland than the island, which would seem to indicate that it was originally a continental and not an insular city. The mainland at this point is a line of sheer, clayish cliffs about 20 feet high. To reach the island with our four cars over the ferry, which is five miles wide, we had to transport each of them on two small, rakish, corsair sailing boats—such as the Barbary pirates used in the days of Decatur—which the native boatmen lashed together, catamaran style. We accomplished the crossing without incident, despite the strong wind. Djerba, which was Homer's famous island of Lotus eaters, no longer boasts any lotus, its low flat surface being now covered with date palms and olive trees.

We have had one accident, which luckily did not turn out seriously. Unable to open the door to a castle built here in the sixteenth century by Emperor Charles V, Robert Swain attempted, like the Turks of old who captured it from the Spaniards, to scale the walls, but lost his footing two-thirds of the way up and fell 15 feet, dislocating his ankle and bruising his hand. The doctor declares he will be on his feet again in a couple of days.

FLAGLER ESTATE SHRINKS HALF

NEW YORK, April 14.—The estate of John H. Flagler, oil and steel financier, has shrunk approximately $1,000,000 by a decline in investments and through the payment of claims against it, an appraisal filed by the State Tax Commission yesterday, shows. Instead of $2,573,885, at which it was appraised by the Bankers' Trust Co. in a report filed in Surrogate's Court Jan. 5, 1924, the tax appraisers placed its net value at $1,564,048.

Flagler died Sept. 8, 1922, and left his estate largely to charity. One-half the residue of the estate was left to his attorneys for the establishment of a charitable foundation. The Alvin Mandelk Flagler Foundation, Inc., was organized subsequently, in memory of his second wife, and it will receive only $268,921, instead of the expected $500,000.

Army Trial For Officer Slayer.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA, April 14.—A courtmartial consisting of 13 officers to try Lieut. J. A. Thompson under the 1924 article of war for killing Major Audrey Burlingame, who was shot to death early on the morning of April 5, will meet at Fort McKinley on April 15. Brigadier-General Charles J. Symmonds heads the court. Thompson, who after the shooting took the body to Fort McKinley, has never denied killing the girl, who was a stepdaughter of Capt. H. P. Calmes, United States Medical Corps, but has stated that he committed the act while suffering from mental aberration due to jealousy.

with impersonating a Federal officer in a liquor raid at Poplar Bluff,
yesterday by District Attorney Cur-

principal witness. Another indict-not be found.

Foree, who lives in Wellston,

in which 29 men and women were arrested. The raids were sponhimself as a Federal officer. He was formerly a Federal agent but since leaving the service has been

MERCURY ENOUGH TO KILL MRS. MCCLINTOCK

Chemist Submits Completed Report on Poison Found in Organs.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Sufficient mercury to kill a person within 10 days was found in all the organs
of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, according to the completed report
of Coroner's Chemist William D.
McNally, submitted to Coroner Oscar Wolff today.

It was stated at the Coroner's office that Dr. McNally's analysis was made on the basis of extensive experience with mercury.

"The amounts found preclude the possibility of its being administered
as medicine," said Dr. McNally.
"We found mercury in all the organs in amounts such as are found in the organs of people dying from mercurial poisoning. The amounts were similar to those found in the organs of persons who have lived 10 days after the mercury was administered.

"We know from experience the distribution of mercury in the organs in the case of mercurial poisoning.

"We found trace of formaldehyde due to the embalming fluid. It is highly significant that we could find this after 16 years of burial."
Investigation of the death of Mrs. McClintock, whose exhumed body was found to contain mercury poison, has shifted temporarily to Galveston, Tex., from where, in 1909, a physician was summoned to attend her in Bay View, Tex., when she was attacked by her final illness. Galveston authorities have been asked to question Dr. William C. Fisher, who was practicing there in 1909, if he attended Mrs. McClintock, and what he prescribed for her. Physicians who attended her after she returned to Chicago to die have said they prescribed no mercury.

Pending word from Galveston,
the Coroner's inquest over the bodies of Mrs. McClintock and Dr.
Olson will be delayed. The Coroner's jury later this week will resume its inquiry into the death of William McClintock, son of Mrs.
McClintock, as the final step preceding the arraignment of William D. Shepherd, his foster-father, on a charge of killing him, with typhoid germs.

TORNADO PUTS ST. LOUIS LEAD CONCERN IN RECEIVERSHIP

Company Suffered Loss of $300,- 000 in Storm at Annapolis—Development Work Cost $2,250,000.
The tornado of March 18, which almost wiped out the town of Annapolis, Mo., is blamed chiefly for the receivership of the Annapolis Lead Co., ordered last week at Ironton. The company has its plant at Annapolis and its offices
here in the Security Building. M.
C. Rhodes, St. Louis real estate dealer, and formerly president of the company, was named receiver.
Damage to the company's buildings and other properties was estimated at approximately $300,000,
partially covered by insurance.
Business has been suspended pending reconstruction. The receivership petition contended the company is insolvent because of the damage and that no effort was being made to keep water out of the mine.

The company was organized and financed by St. Louisans. In February, 1923, it was announced that $2,250,000 had been spent in developing 1000 acres in the lead belt,
and that daily shipments exceeded 50 tons.

HOLIDAY LAWYERS ON TRIAL

Little Rock Men Charged With Hiding His Mail Loot.

By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14.
—Trial of Wallace Davis and Tom Poe, Little Rock attorneys, charged with aiding in the concealment of approximately $100,000 of the loot
taken by Herbert Holliday and several confederates in the $2,750,- 000 mail robbery at Rondout, Ill., opened before Judge Jacob Triebel
in United States District Court here today. It was Holliday's share that Davis and Poe, who acted as his attorneys, are charged with aiding in concealing.

J. C. McKinney, also under indictment in connection with the hiding of the loot, who was brought here from Fine Bluff, was closeted with prosecution attorneys yesterday afternoon. McKinney, a former cellmate of Holliday in a Chicago jail, will be used as a Government witness. Herbert Holliday, now serving 25 years in Leavenworth Penitentiary for his part in the robbery, will be one of the principal witnesses for the Government.

COUPLE FOUND SHOT IN AUTO

By the Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., April 14.—
G. M. Rogers and his wife, Mrs.
Pat Rogers, were shot to death in their automobile near Arlington, 13 miles east of here, early last night. Rogers was shot four times through the chest, while Mrs. Rogers was shot once through the neck. Sheriff Smith believes Rogers shot his wife and then killed himself.

For the last few days Mrs. Rogers had been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Garrett, of this city. Rogers, who it is alleged is wanted for a number of postoffice robberies, appeared in Fort Worth yesterday. Mrs. Rogers, according to her parents, feared for her life at the hands of her husband.

40 CLOWNS HELP MAKE SUCCESS OF POLICE CIRCUS

They Drive the Trick Mule and Imitate Other Performers in Annual Coliseum Show.

WILL CONTINUE
FOR TWO WEEKS

Acrobats, Educated Elephants and Dancing Dogs
and Horses Among Features of Program.

The season for dare-devil acrobats, clowns and bareback riders is here again and so are the performers—especially the clowns. They are here in force. About 40 of them are doing their antics at the Police Circus, which opened yesterday, and very accomplished clowns they are. At the Coliseum yesterday afternoon and again last night they kept a-size of assemblages of small boys and girls shrieking with delight for three hours as they mauled one another about, tried to drive the trick mule and imitate about every other performer in the show.

But while the clowns probably constitute the best part of the circus, they are by no means all of it. There are the educated elephants, the wire walkers, the dancing dogs and horses, the trapeze dare devils and the monkeys. In fact, the show has about everything that went with the old-fashioned circus except the lions and tigers and the snake charmer. From the small boy's point of view, the best thing about it is that it is going to stay in town for two weeks.

Wire Walker in Tumble.

Yesterday's matinee performance was intended to be but little more than a rehearsal, but the stunts all went over in fine style in a smooth running exhibition. Once there was an accident, but nobody got hurt, and the excitement only served to keep up the spectators. The upset came about the middle of the afternoon when a performer, after walking 100 feet up a tight wire incline, attempted to make the descent, balancing on his head. While still about 20 feet above the ground he toppled off his perch and got as ugly tumble. Attendees ran to pick him up, but he shook off the dust and went right back and executed the hazardous feat on the second attempt.

In addition to the customary attractions of the "big show," this circus provides an interesting performance by the Police Zouaves and a musical program by the Police Quartet. The Metropolitan Police Band, coached especially for the occasion, entertains the audience through the performance and also gives two concerts daily, at 1:30 and 7:30 p. m.

The Zouaves, under command of Sergeant John Crona, open the stunt program with a series of intricate drills. Yesterday there was a snap and precision in their maneuvers that repeatedly won applause. They are immediately followed by a drill of the clowns under Harry La Pearl, who is a sort of commander in chief of all clown activities. The clown drill fulfilled the highest expectations.

After the drills, the stunts follow so rapidly and in so many parts of the big arena that the spectator is lost unless he picks out one at a time and sticks to it. However, he would hardly fail to see Gene DeKoe's somersault over 10 men, and he certainly couldn't miss the exhibition of the elephants. If he did he would miss the best animal act on the bill.

These bulky pachyderms stand on their heads, do the "shimmy," sit at the piano, and one of them causes the spectators to stop breathing momentarily while he stands over his master and massages the man's face with his ponderous foot.

Hardly less interesting is the exhibition by the dancing horses, the wire-walking dogs and the kicking mules. One of these artists of flying heels, called "Spark Plug" and billed as the smallest comedy mule in the world, provides plenty of excitement with his educated hoofs and plenty of exercise for the clowns who attempt to dodge them. He ends by vanquishing all his masters and sitting down upon his driver.

Barback riding, featuring the Hodgepodge troupe, daring feats at a giddy height in the flying trapezes, exploits by strong men and women and slick pole climbers make up the balance of the program.

According to Sergt. Thomas A. Wren, president of the Police Relief Association, the sale of advertising space in the large official program and the advance sale of 25,000 tickets at $1 each have netted the organization $120,000 already. This sum is expected to be greatly augmented by general admissions during the two weeks' exhibition.

Witness Says Note in Defunct Holland Bank Was Forged.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 14.—Trial of E. N. Ferguson, former chairman of the board of directors of the defunct Holland Banking Co., has been begun at Buffalo. He is charged with receiving deposits knowing that the bank was in a failing condition. He was tried on the same charge at Buffalo last December, when the jury disagreed. Judge C. H. Skinner of Bolivar is presiding.

Frank C. Hermann, for the State, testified that a certain note for $55,000 purported to be signed by him, was not in his handwriting, but was in the handwriting of E. L. Sanford, who was president of the bank when it closed. The note was among the "cat and dog" paper of the bank at the time of closing.

which ever since has been guilating interest.
with his wife and three sons,
came here 29 years ago, and only the youngest son.

Robert Jones Bartlette, survives.
He is accompanying the father.

Bartlette was found a few days ago in a Fresno fig orchard by P.
W. Mohan, head of a private detective agency, after a search of six months, at the behest of New York attorneys. In this search the son, Robert, joined.

Twenty-five years ago memory left Bartlette when his wife was killed in a railroad accident. He was prostrated and confined in a private sanitarium.

In time he recovered, physically and in a measure mentally. He began to remember. New interests, particularly those having to do with his sons, promised complete recovery.

Then came the World War, in which the two older sons lost their lives. Again Bartlette was plunged into mental night and he began to wander about Southern California.
Beginning with the day Bartlette was found in Fresno, his memory gradually has been returning.

Repeal of Excise Motor Tax Urged.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Leaders of the motor industry called on Secretary Mellon yesterday to urge that he recommend to Congress the repeal of the war excise motor taxes, asserting that a five per cent reduction in the wholesale price on new passenger cars would follow

such a procedure. The motor excise taxes based their plea on the claim that the motor vehicle is a major element in transportation and should be freed from undue levies.

ROGER C. SULLIVAN MEMORIALS Son to Give Radio Stations to Two Universities.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—As a memorial to Roger C. Sullivan, former Democratic leader, a gift of a $100,000 radio station to Notre Dame University and the offer of a similar station to the University of Illinois are announced by Roscoe H. Sullivan. Sullivan said he hoped the station might be used to broadcast University lectures for those who cannot afford to attend.

"It is my wish also to establish a station at the University of Illinois if it will be acceptable to the authorities," he said. "Because of my father's great interest in the education of boys and girls, undoubtedly due to the fact that he was unable to go beyond the eighth grade, I am endeavoring to bring to boys and girls throughout Illinois and nearby States, who cannot afford a university, the lectures given at Notre Dame and Illinois."

Trade Balance Pleases Coolidge.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Coolidge regards the March foreign trade figures, made public today, showing a favorable balance of $167,000,000 for the United States, as an encouraging indication of a condition of business prosperity existing in the country. The President was particularly interested in one aspect of the situation, that, if prices were consid-

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

GIRLS! USE LEMO TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to make the skin white is to mix the cream of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drugist will supply. A few cents, well in a quarter-pint, is a most wonderful whitener, softener, beautifier. Massage this fragrant bleach into the face, neck, arms, hands. It cannot irritate. Stage beauties use it to bring clear, youthful skin and complexion; also as a freckle, burn and tan bleach. You cannot buy this remarkable lotion anywhere because it acts best immediately it is prepared.

BOND OF MAN NAMED AS ROBBER RAISED

James Woods, Unable to Put Up Additional $40,000, Is Remanded to Jail.

The bond of James Woods, 2805 Palm street, identified as one of two men who obtained $1400 in a holdup at the offices of the Union Fuel Co., 4445 St. Louis avenue, on Feb. 14 last, was raised from $10,000 to $50,000 by Judge Gayer, following a preliminary hearing in the Court of Criminal Correction today, at which Woods was ordered held for the grand jury.

Woods had been at liberty on the $10,000 bond following his arrest on the robbery charge and appeared in court today for preliminary hearing. Clifton S. White, manager of the Union Fuel Co., identified Woods from the witness stand as one of the two robbers who held him and 20 other employees up in the office at 10 a. m. Feb. 14 and escaped with a $1400 payroll. White also said Woods resembled one of a trio of robbers obtaining $1000 in a previous holdup at the fuel company's offices. Woods was ordered held for the grand jury and, in default of the $50,000 bond set by Judge Gayer, was remanded to jail.

The bonds of Thomas Cook, 21, 1807 North Grand boulevard, and Earl Heeg, 25, 2156 Sheridan avenue, alleged robbers, were also raised by Judge Gayer following preliminary hearings today. They had been at liberty on $10,000 bonds each and these were raised to $25,000 each following identification by witnesses. They were charged with having taken $5 cents in the holdup of a pedestrian. Both were unable to furnish the new bond and were placed in jail.

YOUNG MAHARAJAH AND HIS 4 WIVES HOUSED AT WIMBLEDON

Large Crowds Go There to Gaze at Residence Turned Into "Arabian Nights' Palace."

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).
LONDON, April 14.—The lure of Eastern mystery drew large crowds yesterday to Wimbledon where they gazed at the commonplace grounds of an English country house transformed into those of an "Arabian Nights' palace" by the 20-year-old Maharajah of Jodhpur.

This youth, second richest of India's ruling Princes, autocrat over 2,000,000 subjects, is keeping there four wives "in Parda," which means they never must be seen by any masculine eyes but his.

When they arrived Sunday night with the Maharajah who brought them across France and to London in special trains, they were carried to waiting motors in closed litters by female attendants.

For weeks all resources unlimited money could command have been employed to make the Wimbledon residence into a luxurious Oriental palace. It is guarded by 100 servants who came with the Maharajah.

The Maharajah's visit is primarily for polo. He has brought his own team and 70 ponies and during the season will compete with crack English teams.

When asked about the possibility of a visit to the United States, a member of the royal suite replied that the Maharajah would like to play polo there, but it would be impossible as he could not enter the United States with his wives.

An unidentified man, presumably a mulatto or Mexican, was fatally wounded last night by Patrolman Nicholas Hunt of the Wyoming Street Station. Hunt, leaving his home at 1550 California avenue to report for duty about 10 o'clock last night, saw the man prowling through a rear alley.

He approached the stranger, arrested him when, he refused to make any explanation of his actions, and started for a nearby call box, when the man jerked from his grasp. Hunt pursued him across a vacant lot, shouted a command to halt and fired a warning shot in the air. In the darkness he saw the stranger pull a shiny object from his pocket. Hunt fired again, this time the bullet passed through the man's body.

At city hospital, where the man died a few hours later, he would make no statement, nor would he identify himself. The object Hunt had mistaken for a pistol proved to be a flashlight, and nothing else was found on the man. He was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed 190 pounds, had a pockmarked face and was about 42 years old.

First 1925 Mail From Far North.
By the Associated Press.
EDMONTON, Alberta, April 14.—Mail from Akivik and other points in the far North arrived Sunday at Fort McMurray, 100 miles northeast of here, and is to reach Edmonton Friday on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway from Waterways, Alta., having covered a distance of approximately 1800 miles by dog team relays. It was learned here today that the mail is the first of the year from trappers, traders and prospectors of the far North for outside points in nearly six states.

PREDICTS SCARCITY OF FUR

Fur-bearing animals will be so scarce and forests in which they live will be so depleted that relatively few persons will be able to purchase furs in future years, according to Herbert Taylor, representative and organizer of the Isaac Walton League, who addressed the Council of Jewish Women at Temple Israel yesterday afternoon.

PART TWO.

WOULD ABOLISH
ALL PARDON AND PAROLE BOARDSChancellor Hadley Asserts
Such Bodies Have Done Much to Develop a Flab-
by Sense of Justice.EFFECTS IN CRIMINAL CODE ALSO DISCUSSEDSuch Change in Procedure as Will Tend to Make It Prompt, Efficient and Final.

Boards of pardon and parole
should be abolished, and the responsibility for releasing persons arrested of crime should be placed entirely on the shoulders of the judge, Chancellor Hadley asserted
at the St. Louis Bar Association auditorium last night.

Chancellor Hadley's address was the last of a series of five on the general subject of "Criminal Justice in America," the previous ones having been given by visiting lawyers. The series of addresses preliminary to the survey of the administration of criminal justice
in Missouri, undertaken by the St. Louis Bar Association.

No more profitable investigation could be undertaken by the St. Louis Bar Association in every branch of the law than the one into the manner in which the judicial and executive clemency
is exercised. Such an investigation, Chancellor Hadley said, would show that the present method of releasing prisoners is a disgrace to the law.

Would Abolish Pardon Boards.

There is just as much reason for the process of law in the consideration and granting of a pardon or parole as in the trial of a case, but the exception of the pardon and parole boards, and their unwarranted interference with the judicial process, has done much to develop a flabby sense of justice in this country. Every one of these boards should be abolished, and the responsibility placed on one officer.

Explaining why processes of criminal justice have failed, in his view, to make advances like those in civil law administration, Chancellor Hadley said:

"We have had no such careful and treatment of the criminal law and of criminal procedure
as we have had of different parts of civil law. The criminal law has, except in unusual cases, been abandoned, as unresponsible and unattractive by the majority of our better lawyers. The result is, therefore, not surprising. As a piece of social engineering, our system of administering criminal justice has proved inefficient, but no one in authority by reason of position or prestige has pointed out the deficiencies."

Only Hope for Changes.

Only hope for changes,
Chancellor Hadley said, is a general feeling that we were trying to do an effective system devised
by the public and industrial classes of life after those conditions had been radically changed
and the civilization of the present
And it is only by such effective action now being made by association, and by the various organizations and agencies concerned with this problem, that we hope to see such changes as make our system of criminal justice an effective one to protect society against crime.

Karolyi's Suppressed Story
Allies Hampered Efforts
To Obtain Land ReformSays Hungarian Aristocracy Persuaded Entente Commission That His Proposal Meant Radicalism.

THE Post-Dispatch prints today
the third of a series of articles written by Count Karolyi of Hungary, telling the story he could not reveal in speeches in this country because of a pledge exacted from him by the State Department in Washington before the Hungarian exile was permitted to land in the United States. The public is already familiar with this "gagging" of Karolyi. Now that he has left the country, he has written for the Post-Dispatch the things he wanted to say to the American people.

By COUNT MICHAEL KAROLYI.
MONTREAL, Que., April 14.

A President of Hungary I was eager for a real democracy, one following the broad lines of the American democracy.

In the United States and in Canada land is owned by the many.
The right of property is defended
because it is universally exercised.
In Hungary the nobility and the church owned the land. I wanted to see it owned by the people—not
the collective ownership of communist, but on the basis of the individual ownership of the many.

By a strange coincidence, two weeks after I had made a division of my own property I was overthrown by the bolsheviks. As I have made clear before, this was only possible because of the ultimatum of the Allied Powers sent to Hungary concerning the giving up of new Hungarian territories to the Rumanians. This I could not and would not accept and so the coup d'etat of the bolsheviks had to succeed.

Wanted Land Reform.

But here I want to tell of my effort, as President of Hungary,
to get real land reform. As soon as it was possible I began by doing the technical preliminary work, such as measuring up the land. In the winter months, while the snow
was lying on the ground, the work
could not be done, but it was well under way in March. Of course, the first land which was divided was my own, as naturally I could not begin with anybody else's
without arousing a natural feeling of discontent.

My land scheme roughly was as follows: The land belonging to the big land owners and the Roman Catholic Church should be released.
It should be expropriated and bought up by the State. The State, in turn, should lease the land to the peasants at a minimum rate to the peasants.
In the land reform bill which I established it was stipulated that no man had the right to own more than 500 acres of rural land. The exception to this rule would have been those estates which were run in a highly intensive manner
where the breaking up of the property would have economically harmful to the State. The State, therefore, would have bought the land not only cheaply but under very favorable conditions. After having cut up the land in this way we wanted to establish a co-operative system to enforce production as much as possible.

Big Emigration to America.

My land reform bill was a very radical one. Still it was based on private ownership.
There was no question of confiscation of land for expropriation. The land owners would have received State bonds in return for their land. The only question of the big land owners and of the Catholic Church was not so much on account of the financial grounds but what they feared more was the loss of their political power. It was the loss of a portion of their fortunes through this change and the loss of their political power. Their will was unopposed.

In three-quarters of the House

such offenders as are apprehended and prosecuted, I estimate that only about 25 per cent of the offenders are actually punished;
and of those who are actually punished, only about 50 per cent
are actually punished.

"So I give it as my carefully considered judgment that prosecuting
those who commit major crimes is only from 15 to 20 per cent effective; that as to all offenders it is
only from 5 to 10 per cent effective; that of those apprehended and indicted for major offenses, it is
only from 25 to 30 per cent effective; and that of those actually tried for major offenses, it is not over 50 per cent effective. Those who have to deal with problems of business,
finance, transportation, science, etc.,
understand what these figures mean.
If they will consider what would be the result in other various enterprises or occupations, if the percentage of efficiency ran from 5 to 50. We should all of us
stop to consider as to how long

ELWOOD HAYNES,
BUILDER OF FIRST
AUTO IN U.S., DEADScientist and Metallurgist Succumbs to Acute Indigestion, Which Followed Attack of Influenza.BEGAN CAREER AS SCHOOL TEACHERLater, as Gas Company Superintendent, He Wanted
Fast Transit and Invented
"Gasoline Buggy."

By the Associated Press.

KOKOMO, Ind., April 14.—Elwood Haynes, inventor of America's first automobile and internationally
known as a scientist and metallurgist,
died at his home here last night
following an illness of a few days.

Two weeks ago Haynes returned from a trip through the Southern states with his wife, during which he had endeavored to regain his strength from an attack of influenza suffered in the middle of the winter. A few days before he stated North he submitted to a medical examination and was advised that the condition of his heart made it advisable for him to return home.

Last week he suffered an attack
of acute indigestion, but he apparently withstood the effects and was on the road to recovery when a re-lapse occurred.

Why He Invented Auto.

On the Fourth of July, 1894, Elwood Haynes, then a young field superintendent for a natural gas company with headquarters at Kokomo, Ind., had a queer buggy,
without tongue or shafts, towed out to a country road. He drove it dramatically back into Kokomo, at the remarkable speed of eight miles an hour, under power generated by a gasoline engine. That, it is claimed, was the first trip of a gasoline-driven vehicle in America.

This horseless carriage, which soon became a familiar sight in the streets of Kokomo, was the result of two years of experiments and was preserved in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. Haynes said he was ordered to "get that contraption out of the streets," when
he made his rounds more rapidly
than he could with a horse.

A year after his first successful
trip with his horseless carriage, Haynes formed a company for the manufacture of automobiles and
was president of it for many years.
He made his rounds more rapidly
than he could with a horse.

Charles E. Duryea also has been hailed as the inventor of the first gasoline car that would run,
and he did his pioneer work about the same time as Haynes.

Began as School Teacher.

"The Father of the Automobile"
was a school teacher at the start of his career. This did not suit him, however, as he always was
of an inventive turn of mind and, long before he developed the idea for a horseless carriage, was given to experimenting in chemistry. One of his ambitions was to find a combination of metals that would resist the oxidizing influences of the atmosphere and at the same time take a good cutting edge. An alloy of cobalt and chromium,
which is used now for making dental and surgical instruments, was the result. He also invented and discovered a number of other alloys.

Haynes was born at Portland,
Ind., Oct. 14, 1857. After completing the course in the public schools
there, he attended Worcester Polytechnic Institute at Worcester,
Mass., where he graduated in 1881.
Later he was a student at Johns Hopkins University. He was married in 1887 to Miss Bertha Lanternman, also of Portland, Ind. The two children, a son and daughter,
both are in the family in his laboratory work in connection with his factories in Kokomo, Ind.

Nelson's Flagship Refloated.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

LONDON, March 28.—Many Americans who have donated money toward the reconstructions
of the famous Nelson flagship, Victory, will be interested in the news that the old sea warrior has been reconditioned, rigged almost exactly the same as during the life of Nelson and refloated. It required years of patient work on the part of naval men to establish Victory as a permanent example of the old sailing ship. Henceforth visitors to Portsmouth will be able to go aboard the Victory
and within the course of a half hour inspect every detail of the floating home of the famous hero of Trafalgar.

Many valuable relics of Nelson's day have been installed just as they were arranged
by his own hand.

First American-Built Auto and Inventor

THIS picture was taken at Kokomo, Ind., July 4, 1922, where a monument was dedicated to Elwood Haynes, inventor of the first gasoline-driven car built in America that would run. The monument stands at the spot where the car started on its first journey.

U. S. JUDGE ASSAILS
FEDERAL REGULATIONPeople Err in Allowing Government to Assume Many Powers, Pollock Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 14.—Judge
John C. Pollock, in the United States District Court, yesterday told the April grand jury that the people of this country were making a serious mistake in allowing the Federal Government to take over many powers which the founders of the Government never intended should be taken from the States.
The Judge made an emphatic assault upon paternalism and regulation and the Government assumption of police powers.

"The Federal Government," he said, "has created out of necessity
by the States so that in certain questions there would be a Supreme Court whose word was final.
The Federal Government has only such powers as are delegated to
it. Everything else was reserved to the States. In the United States
there has been a growing tendency in the last few years for the people of the States to give the Federal Government additional powers. At the present time, more than half the time of the Federal courts are taken up with the trial
of cases which were not violations
of any Federal laws 20 years ago."

Judge Pollock advised the grand jury that there were too many laws
in this country and that the nation. "There are so many that a man of ordinary intelligence
hardly knows what to do and rebuild within the law," he said.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE ASSURED

San Francisco Approves Ordinance
for $20,000,000 Structure.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—The Board of Supervisors has voted final passage of an ordinance
declaring San Francisco's intention to enter with other counties in the formation of a bridge and highway district. The vote was 15 to 0.
Passage of the ordinance paves
the way for the city's participation and construction of the Golden Gate bridge, which will connect San Francisco County with the North Bay counties, Sonoma, Marin, Napa, Mendocino, Lake, Humboldt and Del Norte counties.
are taking similar steps to form
one assessment district to meet the expense of the structure, which has been estimated at $20,000,000.

British Architect Honored

Sir Edwin L. Lutyens Awarded American Institute Medal.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The gold medal of the American Institute of Architecture, awarded for conspicuous service only six times in the last 19 years, will be given to Sir Edwin Lutyens, British architect, at a feature of the convention of the American Institute of Architects and the Architectural and Allied Arts Expon-sition, both of which open here Monday. The award will be made at the Metropolitan Museum of Art on April 24.

It was Sir Edwin Lutyens who designed the famous Queen's palace, a miniature palace presented to Queen Mary of England and which was a feature of the British Empire exposition last year. He has also designed many buildings
in this country, including the chapel at West Point, the Nebraska State Capitol, St. Thomas Church of this city and the Cathedral of the Incarnation of Baltimore.

L. F. LOREE'S RIGHT TO SERVE ON M-K-T BOARD QUESTIONEDHis Position As Kansas City Southern Chairman Pointed Out As Possible Impediment.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—
An impediment to L. F. Loree, chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern, serving as a director of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co., under his election last Friday, is pointed out by Clyde M. Reed, commerce counselor. He takes the position that under a strict interpretation of the Interstate Commerce act, Loree would be barred from acting as director.

A paragraph of the law recites that it shall be unlawful for any person to be an officer or director
of more than one carrier unless authorized by order of the commissioner upon a showing that neither public nor private interests will be adversely affected.

The commission, Reed says, has
at times granted permission for men to serve as directors of widely separated roads, but not of competing roads. The election of Loree discloses plans for consolidation of the Katy and Kansas City Southern.

GOVERNMENT CONSIDERS RAZING
NO. 10 DOWNING STREETHouse Adjoining That of British Prime Minister Also in Bad
State of Decay.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 14.—Two of London's famous old houses—numbers 10 and 11 Downing street, respective official homes of the Prime Minister and Chancellor of the Exchequer—now are in such a state of decay that the Government is considering whether it is desirable to pull them down and rebuild, instead of making further repairs.

The Daily Express says that much money has been spent from time to time renovating the inside and outside of the houses but that each inspection reveals that something further must be done. Some of the walls, the paper adds, seem
to rest on crumbling foundations,
although the buildings are not old, as houses go, having been built about 200 years ago. Although the internal inconvenience of the houses is as notorious as their external ugliness, there are some who believe that reasons of sentiment may prove stronger than the demands of modern accommodation, and that further repairs will be decided on.

to Washington's Progressive Democracy.OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF THE COMMONERSays "There Are Few Reactionary Democrats in Positions of Prominence to Handicap Party."By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A Jefferson day banquet of the National League of Progressive Democracy, scheduled for last night, was canceled because William Jennings Bryan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Joseph Daniels and Mayor Hyman of New York, who were to have been the speakers, were unable to attend.

All the eminent speakers who declined gave excellent reasons in regretting they could not appear.
In some respects the episode par-alleled the Jefferson day dinner promoted by McAdoo supporters
at Kansas City, from which the Iowa Democratic leaders decided to remain away lest their presence might embarrass them in urging the claims of former Secretary of Agriculture Meredith to party leadership and perhaps the presidential nomination.

Meredith stood by McAdoo in the Madison Square Garden convention and was one of the "W.
Davis" running mate. If, as the Iowa news indicates, he is off Mc-Adoo, he has real qualifications for getting the party together, for nobody will ever suspect him of being for "Goo."

Bryan's Reactionaries

Though the declinations balked
the Jefferson day banquet at Washington, they gave an angle
on the views of the eminent Democrats who wrote them that is interesting.

Bryan pointed out that there never was a better opportunity for progressive Democrats; he said that if Congress continues as progressive during the last session
(by which he meant the Democratic co-operation with the Republican Progressives in such matters as the defeat of Charles Beebe, Warren), the prospects are bright for electing a Democratic Congress next year, and laying the "foundation of a successful campaign in 1928."

"In the past it has been our misfortune to have a number of reactionary Democrats in a prominent position, just enough to make progressive Republicans suspicious of our party's personnel and purposes," he wrote. "There are now
very few reactionary Democrats in positions of prominence to handicap our party, and we are in a position to go forward in defense of the rights of the plain people."

"Lard Pictures of Discard"

Franklin Roosevelt, who could not come because he hoped that the transaction was would enable him to discard the crutches he has used for some years, declared that he had been talking with Bryan.
He said there was every reason for the Democrats to take common counsel, because the Republican party had been painting such lurid pictures of Democratic corruption.

"The true issue recurs in every act of these who control the Republican party. They, flushed with success, openly admit their sole motivation is that of prosperity—the prosperity of money and yet more money—a materialism for the immediate benefit of a privileged few, but colored with the deliberate objective of deceiving the average citizen into erroneous belief that it will benefit the many."

"With the old American fundamental thought of honest government for the benefit of the many
the Republican leaders have no sympathy."

Through the elimination of personal ambition through the laying aside of personal ambition, the perfecting of organization, and finally, through an honest effort
on the part of every section in the nation to talk things over and get together, the Democracy can, today, lay the foundation for a successful appeal in the confidence of the electorate."

McAdoo's Message From "Preservation of Local Self-Government."

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 14.—
William G. McAdoo declared in a message read here last night at a Jefferson day banquet that the overwhelming defeat suffered by the party in the last two national elections mean nothing in the long run if members of the party adhere to the ideals, the principles and the economic teachings of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory govt.

Laughing Off Hickism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY has a hard time, being situated as it is, to keep from being run in the interest of the hicks from Kansas and the West. Their downtown streets are lined with hot-dog stands, tin-front restaurants, palmists, cheap movies, pawn shops dealing in shooting irons, spurs and other paraphernalia attractive to the Westerner. They are building an elaborate and costly memorial across from the station, but on both sides are hills literally covered with disgraceful advertising signs.

I laughed when I saw the proposal that they spell out the name on the lawn in front of the memorial. They have just had a gigantic Shriners' emblem wrought in flowers here, and evidently this gave the suggestion that the name Kansas City ought to be there in permanent materials, oyster shells! A question came to my mind: What would St. Louis do in a case of this sort? Would we have a Mayor who could laugh it off?

BUCOLICS.

Persistence of Prejudice.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

JEFF MACKAY'S article in the Letters to the People is another instance of what Mr. Mackay has been saying against the American citizens of German blood for the last 10 years. In his articles in the several St. Louis papers in the last 10 years, which cover the period during the war, he put us down as second-class citizens, as traitors, as Hunns, etc., and he is still at it.

If there are too many Americans of German blood in St. Louis who control the elections, why don't Mr. Mackay go to New York, Chicago, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, etc., which are controlled by the party of his choice? Why live among people you don't like, Mr. Mackay?

N. M. FREUND.

Question for Police.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY is the Police Board against churches and fraternal orders selling tickets? Some time ago one lodge raffled a house and the churches did why they that order now? Let the Police Board catch the payroll robbers and other criminals. They should stop payroll robbery and let us good people alone.

C. D. STUART.

The New Road Contracts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOTICED in this morning's issue of the Post-Dispatch that the Highway Commission is letting nine-foot roads. Why not have 18-foot gravel roads in preference to nine-foot hard-surface roads?

I also notice the commission has awarded a first 12-mile 12 in. of nine-foot brick pavement in Randolph County at a price of more than $115,000 higher than the low bid on concrete for this same section. It would appear as though brick must be better pavement, but in my estimation it is not. Concrete would be just as satisfactory. This $115,000 would have paved six miles of nine-foot road or else would have made this 12 miles 18 feet wide instead of brick nine foot.

The Post-Dispatch advised everyone to vote for Proposition No. 3. Well, if this keeps on we shall pay a gasoline tax all our lives.

Hooley!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

READING your articles about President Coolidge spending so little money on his personal wardrobe, I think the tailors of St. Louis are to feel proud of our present Governor, Sam Baker, who placed an order for $1000 with a St. Louis tailor, after having been elected to his present exalted position. And to his credit the bill was paid in full, on delivery of the garments.

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED.

The Intent of the Ballot.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WILLIAM F. FAHEY, Democratic member of the Election Board, estimated that 5000 votes had been "improperly counted," some for Miller and some for Lige. Now, if this be true, then there are valid and sufficient grounds for a contest in this mayoralty race. The Board of Election Commissioners' instructions to the election officials should have been to the effect that the real "intent" of the voter and not his failure to comply with every technicality of the law should have governed election officials in counting the votes. Every legal voter has the right to vote as he pleases, and for whom he chooses, on a political party ticket, and his ballot must be counted and cannot be destroyed or "ruled out" by the election officials. The intent of the voter must be carried out, if possible, irrespective of formality, and the law must be "liberally construed" in favor of the voter in order that his vote shall count at the election and not be lost in this respect the "ballot is sacred" and overrule all minor considerations.

GEORGE A. RITTER.

THE MAYOR'S TASK.

In his first public statement of his intentions with regard to the mayoralty office, Mayor-elect Miller has outlined the city's problems with better judgment than in his campaign speeches. Public welfare, the terminal situation, expenditure of the bond issue and law enforcement include some of the major problems, although we would place urban transportation among the leading questions pressing for solution. If Mr. Miller carries out his promise embodied in the following paragraph he will go far towards meeting the public will:

St. Louis is on the threshold of a great opportunity. The extent of the realization of this opportunity in a great measure is dependent upon the confidence that the citizens have in government. My efforts, energy and sincere thought will be directed toward such a management of government as will inspire and warrant confidence of the citizens.

If, again, he succeeds in getting the advice and active co-operation of the men he says he will ask to act in an unofficial "Citizens' Cabinet" St. Louis will have an extraordinary combination Mayor. He has named some of the best minds in St. Louis in his list, including Clarence H. Howard, W. H. Danforth, David Sommers, Aaron Fuller, William K. Bixby, George C. Hitchcock, Walter Medart, H. W. Geller, Benjamin Gratz, A. L. Shapleigh, Harry Knight, W. K. Kavanaugh, Festus J. Wade, Frank C. Rand, Jackson Johnson, Howard V. Stephens, Stewart McDonald, August A. Busch, Edward Mallinckrodt, J. Shepherd Smith and W. Palmer Clarkston.

Nevertheless, government by consultation with "best minds," as experience has shown, depends upon the official mind. The work and responsibility will fall upon the man in the Mayor's office, to whom all the problems will come for his solution and action.

In the matter of law enforcement we commend to the Mayor-elect the clear, strong, judicious statement of President Orrick of the Board of Police Commissioners, upon whom rests the responsibility and duty, with the aid and advice of his associates, of directing the police in their branch of law enforcement.

Col. Orrick draws a clear line between a policeman and a Police Commissioner, an administrative officer, who decides upon policies and directs the activities of the forces of his department. It is not his business to do the work of his subordinates but to see that they carry out the orders of their superiors and do their work properly and efficiently.

The Mayor stands in the same relation to law enforcement within his sphere as a President or a Governor within their spheres. He appoints officials to do the actual work and it is his duty to see that it is done thoroughly within the law. The difference between the legal enforcement of law and spectacular official lawlessness is clearly defined.

The Mayor of St. Louis for the next four years has a great task and we join in and express the desire of all good citizens to see it greatly done and to co-operate in doing it.

ALL IS CAUTIOUS ON THE POTOMAC.

His Washington spokesmen emphatically declare that the President meant to express nothing in his statement on the French political situation to which exception could be taken. Without having seen the statement in question we believe them fully and thoroughly.

Our President is the soul of safety, sanity and caution. He not only acts and speaks within the proprieties. There also is his thought. No stirrings of rebellion in his bosom tempt him to rash statement or unpremeditated commitment. His thoughts never get out to the world until they have been laid on ice. Harding has been described as feeling his way like an elephant crossing a plank bridge. His successor will not even look at a plank bridge. He insists on steel and concrete.

But it is one of those disturbing ironies of fate that the supercautious, the hyperimbid, frequently trip into trouble. While the bold go forth to battle and come back, the shrinking have been known to stay at home and meet their fate falling off a step.

To the followers of our President, then, it must be a monstrous misconception that could put Mr. Coolidge in the role of meddling in French politics by expressing an opinion. Particularly is fate capricious and cruel in making our ultraconservative leader a partisan of a deposed Liberal-Socialist ex-Premier of France.

THE NEW ARCTIC CONQUEST.

The recent successful flight of American airman around the world, the dawn-to-dusk flight across the continent, the tremendous speeds developed in the Pulitzer air races, all have combined within the last two years to attract worldwide attention to the great advances made in the science of air navigation.

Now another epochal event is about to take place which, if successful, will not only give impetus to the conquest of the air, but may also reveal hitherto unknown facts about flying. That is the race for the North Pole between Amundsen, in an airplane, and Grettir Algarsson, a young British Columbian, in a lighter-than-air craft of the "blimp" type. It will be a spectacular affair, which the world will watch with perhaps tenuous interest than it did the round-the-world flight.

But its chief interest lies not in its spectacularity. The successful conquest of the North polar regions by airplanes and gas-filled ships, the conditions under which the flight must be made, the obstacles faced by both expeditions, in fact, any number of unforeseen situations that may arise will each teach a valuable lesson in the science and art of flying.

NO MORE BULL.

Rodolfo Gaona, premier bullfighter of Mexico, has retired, which probably means little to the sporting public of the United States, where slaying bulls is left to the meat packers. Yet there is a vast, if not holy, significance in Rodolfo's farewell.

Deciding that a million dollars was enough, this hero of the arena instructed his son to shear off the paternal queue as a sign that Rodolfo was through. Could any act have been more irrevocable? Standing there in the presence of shouting thousands, Rodolfo permitted himself no maybes; not an inch of queue did he leave. Without his queue, like Samson without his locks, no bullfighter can fight. To Rodolfo it was the great renunciation.

Viva Rodolfo! We are weary of our own champions, who do not know what it means to retire permanently. We no longer believe press agents' announcements. Give us the haircut, the short snip to oblivion. If clipping a queue will stop these appearances and reappearances of retired champions, hand us the shears! But stay. Maybe we have cheered too soon. Rodolfo can grow another queue. Is our confidence misplaced? Is it really no more bull for Rodolfo, or was his retirement bluff?

END OF A KANSAS COURT.

The United States Supreme Court handed down a decision yesterday which practically abolishes the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations. The decision holds compulsory arbitration to be unconstitutional in industrial disputes. It further holds that hours of labor cannot be regulated by states through commissions or industrial courts to prevent strikes in connection with wage questions. The decision strips the Kansas tribunal of its two vital functions.

This Kansas court was created under the administration of Gov. Henry Allen at a time of acute public tension caused by the coal strike. Its avowed object was to prevent strikes. The court was the final arbiter in industrial disputes, with authority to intervene and settle disputes in which the parties to the conflict could not reach an agreement. Its findings were mandatory. They had the binding effect of law, and as such must be obeyed.

A Topeka packing company decided to test the authority of the Industrial Court. It appealed first to the Kansas State courts, which sustained the Industrial Court. It then carried the case to the Federal Supreme Court, with the result as stated.

Public sentiment very likely will endorse the Supreme Court's decision. Manifestly freedom of contract and compulsory arbitration cannot exist side by side. The one denies the other. Further, the unwisdom of vesting such extraordinary authority in a special tribunal or commission is obvious. The right of a State, through legislative enactment, to fix the hours of labor in certain industries for reasons of health or as a matter of sound public principle is not impaired by this decision. It is the assumption of a State to vest such power in a special commission, to make a super-court of a board appointed by a Governor, that has been voided.

The Kansas Industrial Court, in the few years of its existence, has rendered public service of value. It has composed differences in a number of instances and avoided strikes which, without its offices, probably would have occurred. But such settlements were predicated on the readiness of the contestants to compromise. Where such a spirit prevails a court or commission of this character can be useful. That, however, was not the kind of court Gov. Henry Allen of Kansas had in mind. He undertook to create an autocratic tribunal, an institution of force, which would issue ukases from which there could be no appeal. His creature—the crowning triumph of his administration—has been destroyed.

QUITE A REDUCTION.

Explaining that the martial court's judgment is only the first, and that its decisions are subject to several reviews, Major-General Smith at Honolulu intimated that Privates Crouch and Trumbull will get no more than three years for their radical activities. Major-General Smith's ideas on the subject, as he points out, are subject to the approval of the Judge Advocate-General at Washington.

Considering that Crouch and Trumbull were first given 40 and 26 years, respectively, with dishonorable discharges, three-year sentences are quite a reduction. Since the General is at such sharp variance with the court-martial as to the punishment to be meted out, it will be very interesting to find out what the Judge Advocate-General thinks about it.

If the Judge Advocate-General sustains Major-General Smith or lightens the sentences still further, the next thing that should be done is to investigate the court-martial itself. As a court of original jurisdiction, it certainly should be held responsible for its acts. Just why it dealt so savagely and ferociously with two 25-year-old privates might well be looked into by the army authorities.

NOT ALL TOGETHER LOSS.

Wheat is a large factor in America's agricultural wealth, although not the most important crop. Hence it is somewhat startling to read Government estimates of a winter wheat yield to be 116,000,000 bushels below that of last year, and the smallest since 1917. With the harvest still two months ahead, there can be improvement, or further decline. With recent rains over a large portion of the wheat belt, improvement is probable, but even if the Federal estimate is accurate, the loss to American agriculture will not be wholly in proportion to the winter wheat statistics.

A part of the loss was through winter killing. Spring drought ruined other acreage, but rains came, too late for wheat, but in time for oats and corn in Nebraska and Kansas, and in time for cotton in the wheat belt's southern fringe in Oklahoma. It is conceivable that many abandoned acres of wheat may yield a greater value in other products, and a bumper spring wheat crop might offset much of the loss of the winter cereal.

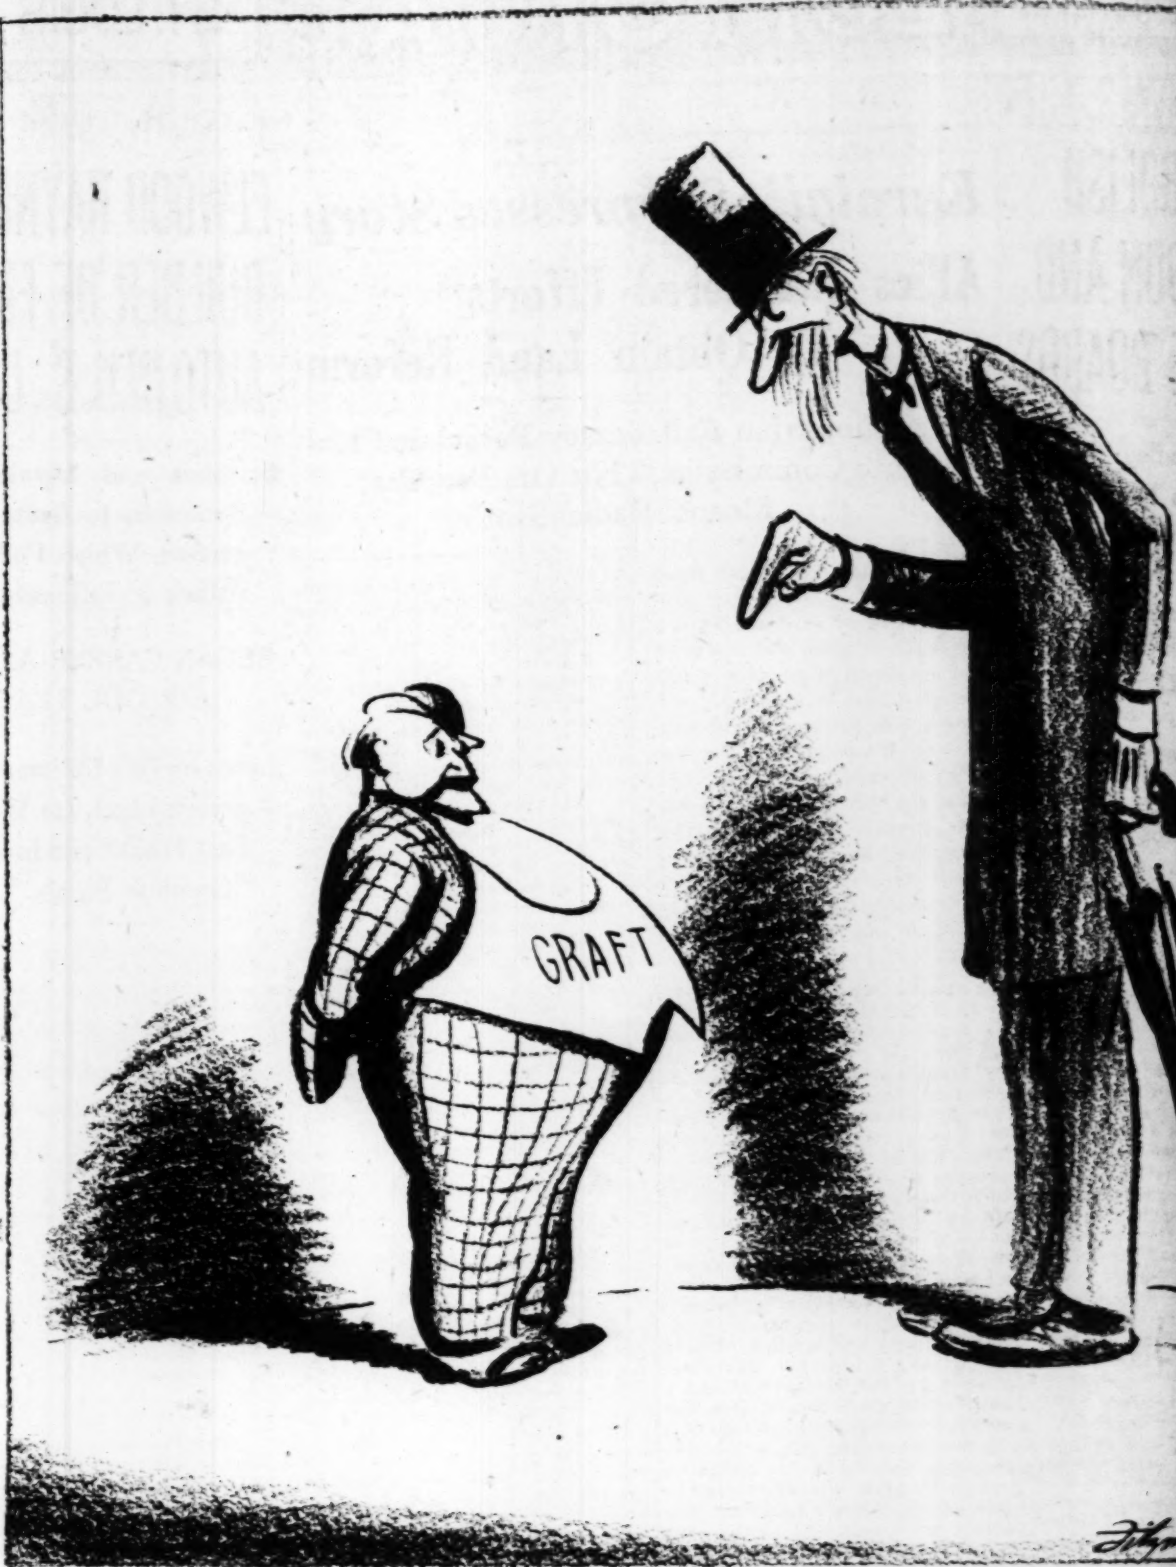

Adverse weather, that shrank the acreage of golden grain, discouraging as it is to the growers, will teach many of them the worth and possibilities of diversification, a lesson they need to know. When depression and poor yields and low prices spread a pall over the spring wheat empire of the northwest, there were farmers who changed their pace and prospered; who made livestock and forage crops pay dividends where wheat meant penury and added to the fertility of soil too long depleted by a single crop system.

All this, and the likelihood of high prices for those whose wheat yields well, sustain hope of continued recovery and improvement in the realm of agriculture. There is time for other crops after winter wheat has failed, and variety is the life of land, as well as the spice of life.

A MILLIONAIRE IN JAIL.

William D. Shepherd, a millionaire by virtue of the death of his young ward, William McClintock, must remain in jail pending his trial for murder. Four times Shepherd's attorneys, using every legal artifice known to them, attempted to obtain their client's release, finally carrying the case to the Illinois Supreme Court. That body of last resort refused without comment to reverse the decisions of lower courts.

No doubt Shepherd finds jail life little to his liking. He has just come into his fortune after a series of deaths in the McClintock family and itches to enjoy it. But the gravity of the charges against him makes it contrary to public policy for him to be free until he stands trial. He has been offered a speedy trial. That is his right and his due. In the meantime, he has the opportunity of showing how a millionaire in jail should behave.

THE REDWINGED BLACKBIRD.

Somebody writing in Scribner's says: "Our red winged blackbird with the scarlet epiphany, has only a genial wheeze."

And if you will drive tomorrow up on the Alton and St. Charles road, beside the Marais Croche, you can hear thousands of red winged blackbirds making the Symphony Orchestra ashamed of itself:

A genial wheeze!
It is a musical tornado which comes booming out of the marsh and goes rolling merrily over the prairie.

It is to bird song what the symphony is to man-made music.

Not what one bird can do, but what thousands of birds, all singing together, all moved by a common ecstasy of spring, can do.

The symphony of spring.

And what an orchestra!

If you will hear that musical torrent rolling from end to end of the marsh—

Now this way and now that—

Merrily—

Methodiously—

Gleefully—

Like the sound of sheep bells blown about by the wind—

You will know what spring is about.

If that is only a genial wheeze, then the music of Beethoven is only the scraping of strings and the blarney of horns.

Of course, neither is anything of the sort. The redwinged blackbirds are the redwinged blackbirds, and Beethoven is Beethoven.

It would be hard to have a symphony season without the one, and without the other we couldn't have spring.

Meadowlarks would flash their golden breasts in the fields.

Yellowhammers would rattle around in a pleasant insanity—

But there would not be a hundred thousand birds anywhere saying:

"Now it is spring we must all sing together."

We must have a good old-fashioned English round—

Beginning at that end—

The running to this—

Back and forth—

Toodle-de-doodle—

All together now, fellows, and give 'em hell!"

Maybe that isn't just what they say, but you will think so when you hear them.

The trouble with the fellow in Scribner's is that he probably heard one redwinged blackbird trying to sing—

"Without the rest of the boys and girls."

Which is a good deal like somebody playing a solo on the saxophone.

We were weighing the news from Russia on yesterday even more carefully than we usually do until we read that the late Patriarch Tikhon was "the spiritual head of $30,000,000 people." This struck us as being so true to the custom of the Russian church, which was to save the people at so much a head, that we gulped it down without a quail.

PARAGRAPHS.

Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, says he is perfectly disgusted with Russia. Which is another indication that work must be plentiful there now.

Selling chances at church bazaars has been tabooed by a recent police order. Were willing to bet our last cent (which would be another violation of the law) that the ministers, who usually push such reformative measures, had absolutely nothing to do with this particular one.

The firemen got their raise after all. The extra coin, we take it, will come in handy for paying off penurious debts.

Appropos the Karolyi case, if only our State Department could eat some of our native loudmouths on some pretext or other, all would be Bero.

Senator Reed says the press of the country is run by a flock of morons. Nothing could more conclusively prove the veracity of the Senator's statement than the fact that the press keeps right on printing some of the things the Senator says.

Federal agents found quite a quantity of stiff bev. stuff in the private car of Gerry Farrar, famous grand opera star. Farrar's explanation probably was that she got the stuff for a song.

Mr. Vauclain, the railroad magnate, is under an obligation to pay $10,000 the first time he takes a drink of whisky in the United States. It will, however, be some time before the bootleggers start charging that much.

THEODORE TRILSEY.

Perhaps the greatest impression made during the World War was that made by American sportsmanship. People who came from far parts of the world are testifying daily to the widespread admiration for the country which renounced the old axiom that to the victor belong the spoils. There is an excellent story of this American quality in the autobiography of Michael Pupin, one of the season's popular books.

He came from Serbia and wore a fez. While walking about New York looking for work he was set upon by a jeering crowd of young hoodlums, one of whom knocked the fez from his head. Michael sailed into his assailant, who somewhat surprised him in size, polished him off and recovered his headgear, whereupon the gang followed him up the street enthusiastically cheering his pluck. It was his introduction to American sportsmanship.

Sir: The following is from the Globe's issue of yesterday morning, under a Paris date line:

Brian again suggested Painleve this evening to President Doumergue as being more likely to receive the support of the Socialists than himself. On leaving Eliza Palace he proceeded to the Chamber and discussed at length with Painleve the situation as it had been left by his consultations during the day.

If "Eliza" for "Elysee," why not "Aitro" for "Herriot?"

CONGRESSIONAL DETAIL.

From the World's Work for April.

THE work of Congress is done in committees. Every member of Congress on several committees. He is expected to be an authority on the subjects considered by at least one of his committees. Under this committee system, in Congress there is an organization of experts. Representative John Rogers of years working on the bill for the creation of the State Department, completed an important construction of work. Representative Albert Johnson, a painstaking student of immigration, the bill he created is one of the outstanding pieces of legislation of this Congress.

Senator Carter Glass is unquestioned authority on the Government's relation to currency and banking.

Senator Charles McNary of Oregon and his family to live in Washington, the facilities for work and recreation men in important positions have chosen to live in the city.

He must, in most cases, maintain his home in his district, for part of the time he must be there, and in any case the use of office in Congress is uncertain.

Considering the office force they need for effective service, the two houses they keep up, and the insecurity of their House needs salaries of $10,000 apiece.

MAKING THINKERS OF SCHOOLBOYS.

From the Asbury Park Press.

EDUCATION is not a mere trick of the brain, storing up all the known facts of various isms and dogmas. Education is a process of beginning to realize that the prime function of the educational system is to make men think.

The world is full of shallow men, going along first after one leader and then another. But the independent thinker, who is always 100 feet ahead of the crowd, is the man who should be the field of the educational system.

Higher education, in many cases, is a waste of money. It is a waste of money to educate a person who is not a thinker.

Hibben of Princeton university, in 40 years of association with college men, has seen that at no time has the student been so eager to fit himself for practical service to his kind as at the present, and he anticipates great results from this more comprehensive method.

Man can only be prodded into thought, the scope of his possible achievement is practically limitless.

TELLS OF ROMANCE OF
'THE RIVALS' AUTHOR

Clayton Hamilton Discusses Richard B. Sheridan at the City Club.

The poignant romance of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, which led to the composition of "The Rivals," was related at the City Club yesterday afternoon by Clayton Hamilton of New York, drama critic, playwright and historian, who is in St. Louis to deliver 15 lectures as advocate for the all-star revival of that comedy next week at the American. The cast will include Mrs. Lake, Chauncey Olcott, Thomas A. Wise, James T. Powers, Lolo Fisher, Lotus Robb and others.

The speaker asserted that of the three comedies which have survived on the stage between Shakespeare's time and our own, two were written by Sheridan, "The Rivals" and "The School for Scandal," while the third, "The Conscious Conqueror," was composed by another Anglo-Irishman, Oliver Goldsmith. He pointed out that Sheridan's paternal grandfather was a famous scholar and the boon companion of Dean Swift; that his father, an actor, was regarded as second only to Garrick, and that his mother, an author, wrote a comedy which Garrick produced and a novel which Dr. Samuel Johnson praised as a good and sufficient reason, according to the lecturer, for the care he has taken never to read it.

Celebrated as a Conversationalist. Without money, position, family or wealth, Sheridan determined when a young man to be a leader of fashion. So he went to Bath, the citadel of the aristocracy, and proceeded to talk his way into society. In his teens he was called "Fowler" by the wit of the aristocracy. In Bath, in that city he made the acquaintance of the most beautiful girl in England, a young singer named Elizabeth Linley.

She was harassed by authors, particularly a blackguard named Capt. Mathews, who already had a wife. Out of chivalry, Sheridan, who was not at first in love with Miss Linley, undertook a chaperone elopement with her to France, the duenna being an elderly and repellent female. There he married the young diva, and immediately placed her in a convent.

Fought Two Duels. Her father, snatched her from the convent and imprisoned her in his own home. But as she required fresh air, she was permitted to take a drive every afternoon. Sheridan disguised himself as a coachman, said Hamilton, and on these daily drives fell in love with his own wife. He fought two duels with Capt. Mathews, and was severely wounded in the second.

After Sheridan was accepted as the singer's husband, he forbade her to keep professional engagements which would have brought her a large sum of money. After a bit it occurred to him that a decent way to live was to write, and he wrote some money himself; so at the age of 23, he wrote his first play, "The Rivals." Like most men of great energy, he was very lazy, and the only way the actors could get him to complete the play, and to write the second, was to deny him food and drink until he made an end. "The third act of 'The Rivals,'" said Hamilton, "is the outcry of a very thirsty man."

Celebrated As Conversationalist.
Without money, position, family or wealth, Sheridan determined when a young man to be a leader of fashion. So he went to Bath, the center of the aristocracy, and proceeded to talk his way into society. In his teens he was celebrated as the witliest conversationalist in Bath. In that city he made the acquaintance of the most beautiful girl in England, a young singer named Elizabeth Linley. She was harassed by suitors, particularly a blackguard named Capt. Mathews, who already had a wife. Out of chivalry, Sheridan, who was not at first in love with Miss Linley, undertook a chaperone's employment with her to France, the duenna being an elderly and repulsive female. There he married the young diva, and immediately placed her in a convent.

Fought Two Duels.
Her father snatched her from the convent and imprisoned her in his own home. But as she required fresh air, she was permitted to take a drive every afternoon. Sheridan disguised himself as a coachman, said Hamilton, and on these daily drives fell in love with his own wife. He fought two duels with Capt. Mathews, and was severely wounded in the second.

After Sheridan was accepted as the singer's husband, he forbade her to keep professional engagements which would have brought her a large sum of money. After a bit it occurred to him that it would not be a bad idea if he earned some money himself; so, at the age of 23, he wrote his first play, "The Rivals." Like most men of great energy, he was very lazy, and the only way the actors could get him to complete the comedy was to lock him in a room and deny him food and drink until he made an end. "The third act of 'The Rivals,'" said Hamilton, "is the outcry of a very thirty man."

Premiere a Flat Failure.
The play failed ignominiously at its first production, Jan. 17, 1775, at Covent Garden. This was due to the fact that it was five hours long, and also to the circumstance that the actor playing Sir Lucius O'Trigger was aware that the pit was filled with Irishmen who had armed themselves with vegetables in case anything happened to be said derogatory to the Emerald Isle. Sheridan took his play home and rewrote it with the scissors; also, he engaged an actor with the redoubtable name of Clinch to play Sir Lucius. On its second production, "The Rivals" gained a great triumph.

Hamilton referred to an all-star revival of the comedy in 1896, with a cast comprising Joseph Jefferson, William H. Crane, Nat Goodwin, Francis Wilson, Robert Tabor, Julia Marlowe, Mrs. John Drew and Joseph and E. M. Holland.

TAXI DRIVER DELIVERS PASSENGER TO POLICE

Captures Negro Alleged to Have Admitted Holding Up Chauffeurs.

Patrolman Liedke was standing in the door of the Laclede Station last night when along scurried a taxi, its negro chauffeur clutching the wheel with one hand, while with the other he was straining to keep the door closed. He needed to strain, because inside was another negro making violent efforts to get out.

"Mister Policeman," yelled the driver, Robert Fitzhugh, "I think I got that man the law wants."

So Liedke arrested the passenger, Robert Williams, 18, of 4239 Cook avenue. The officer took Williams into the station and a H. L. later Williams is said to have admitted he was the man who has been holding up negro chauffeurs.

A half dozen had been held up recently by a passenger who answered Williams' description, so Capt. McGuire of the Laclede District, instructed all negro cab drivers to bring the man to the station if they chanced to get him for a fare. Last night Williams halted Fitzhugh on Jefferson avenue and said "west," so Fitzhugh went west, but when he got to Leffingwell avenue he suddenly turned south from Pine and the next thing Williams knew he was being introduced to Officer Liedke.

Williams, according to the police, said he held up chauffeurs because he "got a kick out of it." Later two of the chauffeurs he had got a kick out of came around to the station and reciprocated with identifications.

At last—a real Whole Wheat Cracker

Unlike ordinary white flour crackers TRISCUIT is made from perfect whole grains of wheat cooked in steam, shredded and baked. A lot of real nutriment in concentrated form. The crisp, flavory shreds of baked wheat encourage thorough chewing, and that means good teeth and perfect digestion.

TRISCUIT is ready-cooked, but tastes better when toasted in an oven and served hot with butter. At all first class grocers.

PREMIER OLIVER SAYS ORIENT HAS LESSON FOR WEST

Although Not for Letting Down Bars in British Columbia He Urges Full Appreciation of Asiatics.

"WHITE MAN IS PARTLY TO BLAME"

He Ridicules Public That Resents Competition Yet Holds Aloof From Menial Work.

By EDWARD PRICE BELL. Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1923.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 19.—Stocky, white-haired and bearded, ruddy, blunt of speech, imperturbable, John Oliver, veteran premier of British Columbia, is a human bit of midland England transported to the beautiful shores of Vancouver Island. His office windows in parliament buildings, Victoria, overlook Parliament Square, a harbor full of shipping—probably the only harbor in the world where ocean-going steamers dock in the heart of a city almost under the eaves of great hotels—and a surrounding scene of extraordinary natural charm.

It was in this office that the correspondent, talking with Mr. Oliver on the Asiatic problem as it presented itself to him in the light of his experience and of his official responsibilities. Mr. Oliver was born in Derbyshire, worked in the mines at 12 years of age, came to British Columbia 48 years ago, established himself as a farmer and finally embarked upon political activities that elevated him to the premiership. Long as has been his absence from England his English qualities and characteristics are undiluted. He is still able to speak the dialect of his native shire.

Comparing Asiatics and Whites. In all he said about the relative worth of the oriental and the occidental man, Mr. Oliver desired it to be understood that anything designated as Asiatic in comparison with Asia or anything designated as white in comparison with the white people must not be taken to mean a higher or lower appreciation on his part of the Asiatic than of the white people, but merely to reflect his anxiety to state certain facts of the western world, to imperil their power to maintain themselves in the natural stresses of international competition. In short, while sympathetic toward what he regards as the virtues of the orientals, Mr. Oliver is a champion of the integrity of white civilization in white countries.

As regards this Asiatic matter, he said, "I do not favor letting down the bars. In that direction I see no tolerable solution of the problem. Many commendatory things can be said about the orientals and I will say some of them. But it is repugnant to me to think of certain phases of the competition introduced by immigrants from Japan, China and India. I do not like to contemplate, for example, the unmarried Asiatic in competition with the married white man striving to bring up a family decently in this country.

"But the white man, in my view, should give some thought—some anxious thought—to his position. He should ask himself if he is not being frugal, not losing the grit, the frugality, the passion for work, the mental, moral and physical qualities that are necessary not only to build a civilization but to keep it up after it is built. There is nothing a white man cannot do as well as or better than an Asiatic. All he requires for success in any industry is a full and determined use of his natural powers. I am not for letting down the bars, but I will tell you people that, in my opinion, they are in far greater danger from self-indulgence and deliberate avoidance of hard work than from any kind of foreign invasion.

Particular About Japs. "One people—the people of this generation—are gnawing at the throat, and at the same time they will not do. We had great unemployment here not long ago. We had this unemployment when numerous lines of endeavor, many tasks, were calling for workers. I have two boys on a farm. They could not get help, though the streets of our cities were crowded with idle men. Farm work was too hard, far beneath the dignity of these men. In my office one day I received a delegation of the unemployed, and a woman member snarled at me, 'You are the man who wanted my husband to dig ditches.'

First of Henry Ford's Airplane Fleet

MAIDEN DEARBORN, first of the fleet of airplanes which Henry Ford is to put into operation between his Detroit headquarters and plants in other cities. The service was inaugurated yesterday with a flight to Chicago. The ship carried 1105 pounds of freight. This venture by the motor magnate marked the first serious attempt to operate a commercial air line in the United States and the first in the world for the use of intercompany business alone.

It. There are Japanese in Victoria who are making as much as $5 or $7 a day cleaning offices. Your Oriental is not particularly respectable, but the job he knows falls to him. He should hunt for other means of making a living, instead of appealing to Government to come to his rescue. And he should profit by the Oriental's example of steadiness at his job. He should be sure that his Oriental is valued by employers not only because they eschew overwork as to what they will do but because they are less prone to desert their work lightly and to go upon strikes from which they can reap nothing but disaster.

Standards of Living Too High. "It is true the Asiatics we see in the overcrowded shacks and are satisfied with the bare necessities of existence. It is true such a way of living, united with the ability and the disposition to work, means formidable competition in the sphere of productive enterprise. If the Oriental is satisfied with a little, it is not less sure, to my mind, that our white folk demand too much. Today in British Columbia, in Canada, and I dare say, in the United States and throughout the white world, standards of living are too high. We have, but for our superabundant natural resources, could not carry on at our present rate.

"These natural resources are not inexhaustible. The man who is not going to last and to support us in our extravagance, for ever. One knows it is the law of the pendulum of life to swing to and fro. It has swung too far to the side of thoughtlessness and indifference among white men. It may swing back. But I see no promise of such a movement in our time or our children's time. It were well if the leaders and teachers of the white world would try to make it sensible to its follies. If the Oriental can bring us back to a hearty esteem of the virtues of constancy, self-denial and hard work he will do us good out of all proportion to anything he can do us in the way of harm.

Valuable Work of Orientals. "Nor is it a fact that the oriental in British Columbia has been an unrelieved drawback to the white man. From the white man's standpoint the oriental has had his economic uses. He has done important industrial groundwork—the white man scarcely would have done, or would have done much less quickly and thoroughly. Our salmon canning industry rests fundamentally on the labor of orientals. No other labor for this purpose is available in sufficient quantity. Once the factories were up and ready for business, they supplied work for a great number of white people. And the same is true of the railways of Canada. Oriental labor entered largely into their construction and now the roads have on the pay rolls tens of thousands of white employees.

"Other valuable co-operative work between orientals and whites is not far to seek, but unrestricted Asiatic immigration we dare not consider. It would bring what the world sorely needs to escape—more trouble. But—and I do not think this point can be too vigorously nor too often stated—keeping up the bars is not equivalent to insuring our security and our heritage. We must keep up the bars, but, with a jealousy and a vigilance, yet many an unforgiving, we must look to the sanity and the soundness of ourselves. No amount of watchfulness at our ports of entry will be any good if we lose the essentials of political, social and economic greatness within. "The Little Reading and Thinking. "To some persons I am bound to confess. Of our disregard of waste and of our daintiness on the score of work I have spoken. There are other disquieting signs. Our people do not read and think enough. Their mental habits are frivolous. Too many love the flimsy and the sensational. Great thoughts, serious study, constructive intellectual pursuits, do not interest them. Not a few claiming to be Democrats, do not understand the basic principles of representative government.

FORD PLANE CARRIES FREIGHT FROM CHICAGO TO DETROIT

Opening of Commercial Air Line Successfully Completed—Manufacturer to Develop Project. DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—The first venture of the Ford industry into commercial aviation was completed successfully when "Maiden Dearborn," the first freight plane of the Ford Motor Co., returned to Detroit from its initial trip to Chicago. The plane left Chicago on the return trip at 2:46 p. m. yesterday and reached Dearborn at 5:38 p. m., covering the 235 miles from Chicago in two hours and fifty minutes. It carried a load of freight.

Henry Ford will employ all his resources in aiding the development of commercial aviation, he announced as the trip to Chicago started.

"It's a very big thing and I am keenly interested in it from every angle," said Ford. "There is not a doubt in the world that commercial aviation, passenger and freight transportation, you know, can be successful."

"Are you going to get behind it yourself?" Ford was asked.

"Yes," he replied, "we are going to see that it is made a success. Also, we are going to take the public into our confidence in this thing. It's so big that everybody will be interested. We are going to tell the public just what happens from stage to stage of the development, as we go along."

"Up to the present I haven't taken any particular charge of this flying business. I left it to Edsel. I think it's a young man's job and, besides, it's Edsel's friends who are interested in this proposition. But now that the product is ready to be used I am more interested than ever."

VESPASIAN WARNER ESTATE TO WIDOW AND CHILDREN

Property Included Land in Several States and Canada. Special to the Post-Dispatch. CLINTON, Ill.—The estate of the late Vespasian Warner, including thousands of acres in Illinois, in Canada, Minnesota, Oklahoma and other states, is to be equally divided among his four children, John and Clifton M. Warner, Mrs. Winifred W. Rogers and Mrs. Mary Frances Crisp, subject to the life estate given to the widow, Minnie B. Warner, according to the will of the aged millionaire.

The widow, the document specifies, shall receive Illinois lands valued at half of his entire estate, to be used by her during her lifetime. She is also to receive the personal property in the estate, valued at 250 shares of capital stock of the John Warner bank, of which the late Col. Warner was president.

John Warner, a son, cashier of the bank, is to receive 250 shares, the remainder being divided among the four children. The will specifies that all United States securities, bonds, etc., shall be converted into cash and credited to the personal estate, one-third of which shall go to the widow, and a one-sixth interest to each of the four children.

KANSAS AIDS JARDINE TO CUT EXPENSES

Allows Family to Occupy $30,000 Home for Six Months, Rent Free. Special to the Post-Dispatch. TOPEKA, Kan.—This is a little picture of the pride and "humane-ness" of a State that wished to make easy great honors for one of its best-loved sons. It is one of the background lights of why, when William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, comes back from Washington to his home town of Manhattan, Kan., on May 9, he will receive a greeting of friendship that is closer than the stereotyped reception usually accorded men who have gone out to larger fields from the confines of state recognition.

When Jardine was considering President Coolidge's invitation, to become a member of the Cabinet, he was told by friends that he had misgivings. There is a wide difference in what a man with a family can live on in Washington, and what he can keep up his position in Manhattan, Kan.

So the State of Kansas refused to accept Jardine's resignation as president of the Kansas Agricultural College. Instead, the State Board of Administration gave him a six months' leave of absence and ordered that Mrs. Jardine and the three children should be allowed to occupy, rent free, the $30,000 home furnished the college president by the State, so that the children might have the advantage of the schools they were attending until the term closed.

Whether there is any connection between the State's action and the fact that Jardine told the State board before going to Washington that he could not afford the secretaries, but that it was a recognition of his family, and which will continue to make possible the interchange of the products of our factories, our mines and our farms with the products of other nations.

"We can find places for the disposition of our surplus agricultural products in the tropics in exchange for tropical products, and we can always find a demand for foodstuffs in some part of the world. The world never has enough to eat and the ever-increasing populations demand more and more foodstuffs. It is a question of distribution and this can be accomplished by wise tariff adjustments and wise tariff adjustments are impossible under Republican control.

"During the war and after the war our textile mills expended wise tariff adjustments will find markets now for the surplus products of our mills, and under Democratic control we can have those adjustments. The issues are plain. We stand for commerce and free trade. The Republican party with the mask stripped from it stands now for isolation. The Democratic party does not need any new alignments, its policies and its history fit into the new conditions in which we find ourselves now as a nation."

ENGLISH "CUPID'S CHURCH" CELEBRATES ITS FOUNDING

Fashionable St. George's, Scene of Many Weddings, Observes Bicentenary. Correspondence of the Associated Press. LONDON, March 28.—London's fashionable church, St. George's, Hanover Square, celebrated its bicentenary recently with a special service of services. Often called "St. Cupid's Church" in the latter part of the last century, St. George's is still popular for fashionable weddings and second only to St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Six years ago as many as 1000 weddings occurred each year at St. George's, but during the last 50 years the average has been about 100. Included among the latter was that of Theodore Roosevelt, who described himself in the register as a "traveller" when he walked over from Brown's Hotel in a bowler hat to be married to Edith Kermit Cawell.

The registers are rich in signatures of other prominent men, as well as royalties. The signatures of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, alongside those of the present King and Queen, are recorded against the wedding of a member of the Gosford family. The signatures of four Prime Ministers of England also are there. Inscribed at the wedding of Henry Asquith, now Lord Oxford, to his present wife, they are Lord Rosberry, William Ewart Gladstone, Henry Asquith and Arthur Balfour, now Lord Balfour.

G. O. P. TARIFF POLICY ASSAILED BY RAINEY

Illinois Congressman Says It Fosters Aristocracy for Sale of Money Abroad. KANSAS CITY, April 14.—Henry T. Rainey, Democratic Congressman from Illinois, urged the Democratic party "to grid itself against creation of an aristocracy of wealth fostered by the sale of money abroad," in an address before the Women's Jeffersonian Club of Kansas City last night. He advised the Democratic party to "abandon some of its slogans"—notably that of a "tariff for revenue only"—in realization that "we are living in a new world and that there must be a new adjustment of tariff and taxes."

Rainey asserted that the Republican party contemplated advocacy of an upward revision of the tariff. "In the future," he said, "if the Republican party remains in control, under its announced policies, we may expect to sell money abroad, not goods."

View of G. O. P. Tariff Policy. To make it possible to sell money in increasing amounts, Rainey said, the Republican party will put into operation the Mellon tax plan, Secretary Hoover and the President's agricultural commission, he stated, have recommended reduction of foodstuff production and a raising of the tariff wall to a point where "the tariff business we have with foreign nations is the business of selling them money." The Republican tax plan, he said, is so designed as to foster large estates that can lend money abroad, and to create a money aristocracy.

"The Democratic party with its opposite theories of government is the only party which can safely be permitted to function at the present times," declared Rainey. "It must abandon some of its slogans. We must realize that we are living now in a new world and that there must be new adjustments of tariffs and taxes. We must vigorously deny that the Democratic party is a free trade party. It never has been a free trade party and it never will be a free trade party. We must deny and establish the fact that the Democratic party is not an enemy to successful business, it never has been and it never will be. We must abandon our slogan of a 'tariff for revenue only.'

Changed Conditions Cited. "It does not fit in with present post-war conditions, and inasmuch as we do not know what a 'competitive tariff' is as applied to post-war conditions, we might as well quit using that slogan. The Democratic party will have no trouble in standing against measures which will shift the tax burden from the shoulders of those best able to pay it to those least able to pay. The Democratic party can stand against the policy of merely selling money abroad. The Democratic party can stand against the creation of an aristocracy of great wealth, and the Democratic party can stand in favor of those wise tariff adjustments which will maintain the standards of American working men, and which will continue to make possible the interchange of the products of our factories, our mines and our farms with the products of other nations."

Isolation Policy Rejected. "Our policy of national isolation has commenced to react and the reply of Republican leaders to this situation is that we must have more isolation," Rainey continued. "In the future, if the Republican party remains in control, under its announced policies we may expect to sell money abroad, not goods. In fact, we are doing that now. The interest on the money we have sold to other nations is rapidly growing larger and larger in amount, while the balance of trade in our favor will continue to grow smaller and smaller, and the time is not far distant when the return we get from the sale of money will greatly exceed the returns we get from the sale of goods."

"The answer to this situation is found in the recent pronouncements of Secretary Hoover and the President's agricultural commission. The remedy they present for conditions is to produce less of manufactured products and less of foodstuffs, until we only produce enough to satisfy our own demands, and while we are doing this the expectation is to raise the tariff higher and ever higher until nothing at all can get in, until trade absolutely stops between the United States and foreign nations, until the only business we have with foreign nations is the business of selling them money."

The second event for many nationalities is the Spring Fair, which has been arranged in Stockholm for June. To draw all the countries bordering on the Baltic Sea, except Germany, have been invited to send exhibits.

Democratic party is not needed. Rainey said.

"The issues of the next campaign are developing with remarkable rapidity," Rainey said. "There never has been as much need for the Democratic party and the supremacy of the propositions for which it stands as there is at the present time. A conference in all probability would result in a discussion of who the candidates shall be three years from now, from what sections of the United States they should come, who was responsible for our defeat last year, and a number of absolutely unimportant questions and issues. The Republican party is making the issues for us."

Hollins N. Randolph of Atlanta, Ga., great-grandson of Thomas Jefferson, whose birthday anniversary was observed by the club, reviewed the career of his ancestor. Other speakers were J. R. Flinn, former chairman of the Iowa Democratic Committee, and former Gov. A. M. Dockery of Missouri.

Taking cognizance of reports that the banquet was to be a gathering of supporters of William G. McAdoo, the president of the club, Mrs. A. Ross Hill, designed at the outset of the program "that factionalism had no place in the club."

The Young Men's Democratic Club of Jackson County held another dinner to which Gov. Smith of New York and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his pre-convention campaign manager, were invited. Both sent messages expressing regrets at their inability to attend.

MANY FLEE FROM FLOOD WATERS AS FORD DAM BREAKS

Michigan Troopers Warn Residents in Valley of Huron River Between Flat Rock and Lake Erie.

MORE THAN 5000 ACRES INUNDATED

Families Taken to Safety in Boats, Barns, Trees and Furniture Being Swept Away on Current.

By The Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—Numerous families in the valley of the Huron River, between Flat Rock and Lake Erie, were driven from their homes early today when the dam at the power plant of the Ford Motor Co. at Flat Rock burst and released millions of gallons of water into the valley.

More than 5000 acres are reported under water which is reported to be 12 feet deep in some places and steadily rising.

Warned by State Troopers.
The valley's inhabitants were warned of the flood by State troopers who started along the river to rouse persons living nearby as soon as guards at the dam had telephoned the station of the disaster. So rapidly did the water rise that the officers were soon forced to take to boats, going thus from house to house with their warning, ferrying many families to places of safety and sending the men ahead in commandeered boats to aid in the rescue work.

No lives have been lost, so far as could be learned, although many houses, built below the level of the dam, were inundated.

Reports from various places along the seven miles from Flat Rock to Lake Erie indicate that the entire valley, at some places a mile wide, is under water.

Furniture Drifts on Current.
Hundreds of small houses, many of which are set on stilts, line the river at its banks.

Although the water was high around the bridges of the Michigan Central and the Detroit, Toledo & Short Line railroads below Flat Rock, traffic was not interrupted.

Small barns, boat-houses, wooden farm implements, trees, bushes and furniture were drifting down the valley on a current running 10 miles an hour. The troopers reported seeing chickens clinging to drifting sheds and once a dog, marooned atop a small barn, howling in fear, as the waves rocked and buffeted his raft through the wreckage.

The break in the Ford company's dam followed the crumbling of the earth embankments that flank the new Detroit Edison Co. dam at French Landing, several miles above Flat Rock, yesterday. The impounded water of the six-mile artificial lake rushed through the break.

The dam, which is 32 feet high, is built partly of concrete and partly of earth. Engineers estimated today that already 10,000 cubic feet of earth have been washed away, while the river today is eating into the remaining earthworks, and engineers believe more will be swept away.

The new power station of the Edison company was to have been opened May 1. The cost of the plant was $750,000.

TWO JUDGES TO HEAR SUITS
ATTACKING BAN ON RAFFLES

Arguments on Permanent Injunction Against Police Will Be Made This Afternoon.

Circuit Judges Miller and Falkenhainer will sit together today to hear arguments on five suits filed last Saturday to enjoin the Police Department from interfering with carnivals and raffles. The suits were filed after a general order had been issued by the department to stamp out the use of gambling devices in such affairs.

With temporary injunctions in force, attorneys agreed today to consolidate the five suits, and the two judges will sit together in the hearing at 2 p. m. The Police Department is represented by City Counselor Senti and by Jesse W. Barrett, former Attorney-General of Missouri. The department filed answers today, in which it denied the right of the courts to enjoin it from enforcing the law against operation of gambling devices.

PART OF FRANKLIN AVENUE
DARK AS LIGHTS ARE CHANGED

Service on Old Gas Lamps Shut Off While Electric System Is Being Installed.

Franklin avenue, between Leffingwell avenue and Grand boulevard, was in darkness last night as a result of the installation of new electric street lights on Franklin avenue. It was found necessary to shut off service on the old gas lights in order to avoid interference with the laying of conduits for the new system. Police received numerous complaints from residents of the section because of the lack of lights. The new system will be in service tonight.

RIGHT OF JAPANESE PEERS
CHALLENGED BY NEWSPAPER
Kobe Editors Assert Body Is Neither Fair Nor Just in Dealing With National Issues.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright 1925 KOBE, April 14.—The Osaka Mainichi Shimbun which has just absorbed the English edition of a journal in Tokyo and which now incidentally claims to have the largest circulation in Asia, affords a striking light upon the trend of public thought here. Commenting upon what many think was justifiable opposition to certain Government measures in the present session of the diet the Mainichi Shimbun challenges the right of the peers to exercise political power "which theoretically belongs to them but which common sense dictates should not be exercised by them."
The best interests of the members of the House of Peers, says this newspaper, demand that they should abandon their ambition to take an active part in practical politics. It charges the members with having been neither fair nor just in dealing with national issues, thus inviting the unpopularity and even the enmity of the masses some of whom, it avers, advocate the abolition of the upper house. "We," says the Mainichi Shimbun, "are of the opinion that if the peers should fail to adapt themselves to the new conditions they will be digging their own graves."
This remarkable semi-revolutionary pronouncement clashes directly with article 38 of the Japanese constitution which says that both houses shall vote upon the project of law submitted by the Government and may respectively initiate projects of law.

TEACHER FINDS $50,000 GEM
Correspondence of Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
BELLO HORIZONTE, Brazil, March 25.—By far the most profitable walk he ever took was that taken a few days ago by a school professor in a small nearby village. While strolling along the bank of a small stream he caught sight of something flashing in the sun. He thought at first that it was a piece of glass reflecting the sun's rays, but decided to examine it because of its brilliancy. He was surprised and highly delighted to find that it was a diamond which has since been valued at more than $50,000. It is thought to be larger than the famous Estrella do Sul diamond, one of the largest and most valuable ever found in Brazil. The diamond fields of Minas Geraes, of which this city is the capital, are among the largest and most valuable in the world. But most of the Brazilian diamonds are purchased by the South African companies and are marketed as South African diamonds.

IN HOSPITAL

Thought He Would Never Be Well Again, Says Herb Juice Restored His Health

"I honestly believe your Herb Juice saved my life, and feel as though I would be doing my fellow man an injustice if I did not give this statement, in order that others may know about this medicine," said Mr. Louis Toth, of 9102

MR. LOUIS TOTH
George, Detroit, when he called to see the HERB JUICE man in that city a few weeks ago. "Several years ago," continued Mr. Toth, "my health began to fail, and I thought I was about done for. I was continually spitting up mucus and my stomach was in such a condition that I could scarcely eat a thing. I was told that this trouble was caused by a bad cold of Catarrh, which had affected my throat. I did not get any better from the treatments I took, so was sent to the hospital, where I stayed for four months. I went back home and for four months more I did not get out of bed. I was told was some form of rheumatism; my feet would swell and I was so nervous I could not rest day or night.
"On reading the paper one day, I noticed a statement about HERB JUICE, so without saying anything about it, I began to use this medicine which I honestly believe saved my life, as it was the only thing to do me any good. I can hardly believe it myself; that today I feel as though I was never sick a day in my life. I have been relieved of the mucus dripping from my throat, stomach is in fine shape, and I can eat and enjoy anything I want. Nerves are in fine shape and I am usually after going to bed. I have been relieved of the swelling in my feet and the rheumatic pains, and can feel myself in strength every day.
"As I said before, HERB JUICE has saved a new man out of me, and I honestly believe it saved my life."
"The HERB JUICE man has established headquarters at Judge & Dolph Drug Co., Washington avenue, where he will sell the local public daily, introducing the merits of this remedy."

TAN SHOES LEAD TO ARRESTS AS ROBBERS

Two Youths, One of Whom Wore the Oxfords, Accused of Several Crimes.

A pair of bright tan oxford shoes catching the eyes of Detectives Spies and Taylor, led to the arrest yesterday of two young men who have since been identified as participants in several holdups and a burglary.

Elmer Stevens, 18 years old, of 5852 Union boulevard, and Austin Cronin, 20, of 4668 Evans avenue, were picked up on suspicion by the police last week. No charges could be placed against them and after 20 hours they were released. But not before Spies and Taylor gave them a thorough "once-over." In looking back they noted the number of last month, the detectives noted a pair of tan oxfords, stamped with an identifying mark, were included in the loot stolen from the dry goods store of Harry Nudelmann, of 5257 Robbins avenue, March 22. Cronin wore a pair similar to those described.

Shoes Identified by Merchant.
The young men were re-arrested, and Nudelmann identified the oxfords as his property. Stevens was identified by Adolph Schaefer, a butcher, of 3241 Florissant avenue, as one of two young men who attempted to hold him up on April 6, when he was making a delivery. Schaefer pushed them off the running board of his machine and drove away. One of them fired a shot at him. Vincent Dornier, owner of a grocery at 5093 Emerson avenue, identified Stevens as one of two robbers who held him up and took $75 from the cash drawer on April 7, making their escape in an automobile driven by a young woman. Warrants will be applied for.

Stuart A. Wetzel of 5337 Ridge avenue was robbed of his automobile by a man who secreted himself in the tonneau of the car when Wetzel stopped at a drug store at Goodfellow avenue and Page boulevard at 4:40 p. m. yesterday. The robber made him drive west to the Washburn tracks, where Wetzel was forced to get out. The robber drove away in the car, but did not attempt to take any money.

At 4:30 p. m. yesterday, Henry Metzger, chauffeur for the Union Trust Co., was robbed of $10 by two men who drove alongside his truck at Garrison and Cass avenues and made him drive into an alley near by.

Insurance Collector Robbed.
Charles A. Ripson, collector for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was robbed of $75, of which $20 was his own, as he left 2208 North Eleventh street, where he had made a collection at 7:15 p. m. yesterday.

Two men held up Joseph Lumar, 1900 Mound street, at Eleventh and Mullany streets at 8:40 p. m. yesterday and took from him $20 which had been entrusted to him for safe keeping by his brother Panteleoni Lumar.

Two robbers got $1000 in cash in a holdup at the Puritan Oil Corporation filling station at 2208 Washington avenue at noon yesterday. Lincoln Gundlach of 2322 Bellevue avenue, collector for the corporation, was getting the receipts from Robert McHugh, the station manager, when the robbers entered. They escaped in Gundlach's automobile.

LOMBARD DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Broker Is Charged With Constant Intemperance in Petition.

By the Associated Press.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 14.—Mrs. Anna Bell A. Lombard has begun an action for separation from James P. Lombard, president of the mortgage brokerage firm of James P. Lombard & Co. and a resident of Bronxville. It was revealed here today when Supreme Court Justice Taylor filed with the County Clerk an order granting Mrs. Lombard alimony of $300 a month and $1500 counsel fees pending trial of the suit.

Her petition states that her husband's constant intemperance has been a cause of continual embarrassment to her and that he has made derogatory statements in public about her. Lombard's reply alleges that unhappy conditions in his home have driven him to relieve the pressure under which he lives by the moderate use of intoxicating liquors; that his wife is a teetotaler and deprecates the use of intoxicants even in moderation. The couple have one child, Penelope, a Vassar student.

Interred Beside Father, Civil War General, in Calvary Cemetery.

A chapter in the history of St. Louis was reopened when Miss Mary Sherman, 71 years old, was buried at 4 p. m. yesterday in Calvary Cemetery beside the grave of her father, Gen. William T. Sherman.

The Rev. Father Moore, a Remonstrant Father from the Rock Church, was assisted in reading the burial service by the Rev. T. E. Sherman, S. J., of Santa Barbara, Cal., who had performed the funeral services for his father, Gen. Sherman. The other surviving member of Miss Sherman, Tecumseh Sherman, author and attorney, residing in New York, attended. Funeral services were held in the morning at the home of the late Mrs. Sherman, 212 North Madison street. Yesterday's service was preceded by a gathering of friends at the home of the late Mrs. Samuel Reber, 67 Vandeventer place, who is a niece of the General. Perhaps some of the 39 or 40 persons who gathered at the funeral were the same as the 39 or 40 persons who gathered at the funeral of the man and Mrs. Sherman.

home on Locust street, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, but the war soon called him away.

Wrote Memoirs Here.

Late in 1861 and through the following spring he was in command of an instruction camp near St. Louis, where many St. Louis men were trained. He returned at the close of the war, as high commander of the United States army,
to make his headquarters here from 1874 to 1876. He wrote his memoirs here. He died in 1891 in New York, and, with impressive services, was brought to lie here

beside the grave of Mrs. Sherman, who died in 1888.

The only monument to Sherman
in St. Louis is the one which stands at his grave, beside those of Mrs.
Sherman and two sons and the new grave where the brief services were held. Erection of a memorial arch at the Kingshighway entrance of Forest Park was once contemplated. An equestrian statue by Saint-Gaudens stands in Washington, and another monument in New York. The simple shaft at the grave, carved with folded banners,
is inscribed, "Faithful and Honorable."

DIARY OF STUDENT WHO TOOK LIFE BRINGS CAMPUS INQUIRY

Predictions Made of Drastic Social Regulations at Northwestern University.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, April 14.—A sweeping investigation of the "off-campus" activities of its students, with predictions of drastic regulations to curb alleged gin parties described in the diary of Robert Preston, student suicide, is under way at Northwestern University today. Students and professors named in Preston's story of his last wild fling in the shadow of death were being questioned. President Walter Dill Scott said that the diary was unquestionably true. The Rev. R. K. Ryan went even further and hailed the message contained in the books which Preston placed in the weighted brief case strapped about his body before he fired a shot into his head and toppled into Lake Michigan, as a record of conditions existing among the youths of this country which should not go unheeded; an indictment drawn by one who knew what he was talking about.

"It calls for denial," the Rev. Ryan declared, "but for remedial investigation and admission. Why evade it?" He further described a party given recently at a hotel near the University of Chicago. It was a high school dance, and the ballroom, filled with youths not yet out of their teens, "I looked in vain for the old-time chaperons," said the pastor. "There was no restraint upon the actions of the participants. Their dancing was uncensored and it beggared description in its suggestiveness and vulgarity. Every lounging room set aside for 'men only' was filled with spooning couples, drunk and disorderly. Young girls, helplessly intoxicated, were lolling in the laps of drunken boys. Hip gin was the prevailing drink and it was being passed about from youth to youth in wild abandon."

BAKER NAMES KANSAS CITY LAWYER ON SERVICE BOARD

Samuel Hutchison, Democrat, Selected—St. Louis Engineer to Be Named.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—Gov. Baker has announced the appointment of Samuel Hutchison, Democrat, a Kansas City lawyer, as a member of the State Public Service Commission, to succeed R. H. Musser, Democrat, of Plattburg, who resigned effective March 1, last.

The term of Edwin J. Bean, the other Democratic member of the commission, expires Wednesday. But Bean will hold over for the present, Baker said, until he completes some pending arrangements. Baker said he virtually has decided on Bean's successor, but declined to say who it is, other than the man selected is a St. Louis engineer.

The appointment of Hutchison is a personal one by the Governor. He described him as a "good, clean, experienced lawyer of Kansas City," and stated that as far as he knew Hutchison has not had any connection with public utilities or public utility law. Baker said Hutchison was not put forward by either of the Democratic factions in Kansas City and declared his appointment would be a "complete surprise" to Kansas City.

BROTHER'S CLAIM TO $12,000 ESTATE OF SISTER IS UPHOLD

Probate Judge Holtkamp Rules Against Provision in Will of Late Miss Kate Thobes.

A decision by Probate Judge Holtkamp today holds that Henry G. and Frank Thobes are entitled to the $12,000 estate of their sister, Miss Kate Thobes, 2844 Ohio avenue, who died two years ago. In her will she provided that her estate was to go to such charitable objects as her executor should select. It was contended by her brothers, through their attorney, Police Commissioner Henry Kerkjohn, that the provision was void on account of being indefinite and leaving too much authority to the discretion of the executor. The court's decision upholds this view.

The brothers previously had endeavored to set aside their sister's will on the ground she was of unsound mind, but a jury decided against them.

Other features of the program include an address on "Commercial Crime," by Horace L. Dyer, special assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States; songs, a monologue and humorous skit.

SOVIET FIGURES INDICATE FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE

United States Is Third in Countries Importing to Russia, and Britain First.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Russia for the first time in several years has issued official figures dealing with its foreign trade, the 1924 totals listing exports of approximately $185,000,000 and imports of $120,300,000. This would leave a substantial balance favorable to Russia.

The United States ranked third in furnishing imports to Russia, according to the soviet figures which were made public here today, and the value was, approximately $23,000,000 in 1924. Great Britain furnished about $26,500,000 in Russian imports and Germany about $25,500,000.

England was likewise the best customer for soviet exports, the figures indicated, taking commodities valued by the soviet at $40,350,000, while the United States took but $3,500,000.

Germany was shown as the country of export for materials valued at $33,000,000, while under the general term "Mongolia" the soviet estimate accounted for $18,500,000 in exports.

ST. LOUISAN TAKEN TO ILLINOIS TO FACE BANK ROBBERY CHARGE

Francis W. Whalen, 22. Named as Member of Gang That Held Up Brownfield Depository.

Francis W. Whalen, 22 years old, of 803 Clarkson place, was returned to Golconda, Ill., today to answer charges of participation in the robbery of the Union State Bank of Brownfield, near Golconda, Oct. 22, last. The robbers obtained $1060 in the holdup.

Whalen was arrested at his home last Sunday by police at the request of Golconda authorities. Deputy Sheriff Peel of Golconda arrived here yesterday with extradition papers and took Whalen to Golconda today. Four men already have entered pleas of guilty to participation in the robbery, and have been sentenced to indeterminate terms in prison. Two others are being sought on information furnished by those already sentenced. Whalen made no statement concerning the charge before leaving in custody of Deputy Peel.

91 MOTORISTS WHO LACKED CITY LICENSES ARE FINED

Judge Mathews Wrote on Unlicensed Non-Residents, Operating Carrier Service in City.

Forty-six laggard motorists who failed to secure city licenses before the time limit expired, were fined by Judge Mathews in Police Court No. 2, yesterday. There were 71 cases in this court. In Judge Homer's court, 45 similar offenders were fined costs, and 24 discharged out of a total of 22.

Judge Mathews has persisted in his warfare on suburban residents, who use the streets of St. Louis for business without a city license on their pleasure vehicles, despite the decision of the State Supreme Court, as interpreted by Roy F. Britton, attorney and head of the Automobile Club of Missouri, published in the Post-Dispatch yesterday.

STORM DAMAGE IN INDIANA

Many Houses Unroofed and Wire Lines Leveled by Wind.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 14.—A severe windstorm swept over Indiana last night, leaving in its wake a number of damaged homes, uprooted trees and leveled power and communication lines.

Apparently entering the State from the west, the storm passed over Sullivan, only a few miles north of the territory hit by last month's disastrous tornado, then moved northwest, tracing a path through Indianapolis and Kokomo, then veering to South Bend and then eastward to Fort Wayne.

Two business houses and two residences were damaged at Sullivan. A dozen houses were damaged near Kokomo and several garages overturned. Several houses were unroofed in South Bend and a bank building in Lakeville, in St. Joseph County, was unroofed. The roofs were also blown from a few houses in Fort Wayne and a number of telephone lines were down.

POSSE TRAILS SLAYER OF TWO

Tennesseean Reported Surrounded on Island Near Waycross, Ga.

By the Associated Press.
KINGSPORT, Tenn., April 14.—A posse of officers and citizens trailing a man whose name was given as "Wagner" wanted for killing Deputy Sheriff Hubert Webb and Policeman John Smith and wounding another policeman yesterday afternoon, reported early today that the man was believed to be surrounded on an island several miles above Waycross, Ga.

The slain officers were members of a party of five dispatched to a point on the Holston River to investigate reports of disorderly conduct. As they neared the scene the man, known here as Wagner, and who is believed to be a fugitive from Mississippi, was intercepted and a fight was started, in which Webb and Smith were shot to death. The slayer forced a man to yield his horse and started toward the Virginia line. The posse was speedily organized.

Martin J. McManus, second baseman of the St. Louis American League baseball club (the Browns), and Miss Norma E. Wahl of 6467 Marcus avenue, were married by Justice of the Peace Stecker in the courthouse at Clayton at 9:30 o'clock last night.

The couple, accompanied by two witnesses, arrived about 9 p. m. and requested the Night Sheriff to call the Recorder to issue the license. This was done. Justice Stecker performed the ceremony. McManus gave his age as 25 and the bride hers as 21.

COURT BARS TAXICAB SIMILAR TO THOSE OF THE BROWN CO.

Permanent Injunction Issued Against William La Tour by Judge Falkenhainer.
A permanent injunction was issued yesterday by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, prohibiting William LaTour from operating a taxicab similar in color and design to machines operated by the Brown Cab Co. The Brown Co. applied for the injunction, alleging that the similarity caused LaTour's cab to be mistaken for a Brown cab.

Further objection was made to LaTour referring to his cab as "Brown Cab" as Town and Brown sound alike. Several weeks ago a temporary restraining order was issued in the case.

VIRGINIA JURIST FATALLY SHOT

Family Says Judge Joseph Kelly Fell When Carrying Gun.
By The Associated Press.
BRISTOL, Va., April 14.—For the second time in less than two months, the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals has lost one of its members through death from gunshot wounds. Judge Joseph L. Kelly having been found dying in his home today after members of his family heard an explosion in the basement. In February, Judge Frederick W. Sims, to whose post Judge Kelly succeeded, committed suicide by shooting himself in a Richmond hotel.

Judge Kelly had been in ill health for many months. Early today his household was startled by the sound of a shot, and entering the basement, found him fatally wounded with the charge of the gun in his left side. He died soon thereafter. Judge Kelly was president of the court when he resigned Jan. 31, 1934, to return to private practice. He was reappointed to fill the vacancy left by Judge Sims' death. Relatives later declared that Judge Kelly and son started to the basement to kill a rat. The family said the jurist had just started to descend the stairs, which they described as faulty in construction, when he fell, and the gun was discharged.

LAUDER DENIED TAX REDUCTION BY U. S.

Singer's Relation With Manager Like Barnum and White Whale, Board Rules.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
28-28 West Building.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The relation between Harry Lauder, Scotch troubadour, and his manager, William Morris, is no different from that which existed between P. T. Barnum and the white whale. The Board of Tax Appeals holds in denying the singer's claim for a reduction.

Claim for a reduction was made on the ground the management of Sir Harry constituted a personal service corporation, but the board denies this. Other claims were denied, all of which will cost Harry Lauder and his manager an additional $44,000.

The decision, written by Commissioner Lavin, is notable for the light it throws on the manner in which the Lauder tours have been conducted and upon the amount of money taken in by the canny Scot.

Organized to Star Lauder.
It appears that the William Morris Enterprises, Inc., was a company organized to star Lauder. Its stock consisted of 50 shares of a par value of $100 each and was held, 40 per cent by William Morris, 20 per cent by his wife, Emma Morris, and 40 per cent by his son, William Morris Jr.

Morris met Lauder in 1907 in London and arranged to tour him here. Lauder liked the arrangement so well that he told Morris he would use him as a manager from that time on. There was no contract written, nothing more than a verbal agreement, plus an occasional cablegram or postal telling Morris that Lauder was on his way.

Lauder on his tours was to receive a salary of $3500, if the profits justified. The rest was to be divided among the stockholders. The Lauder show did fairly well, the report showing that the gross income in 1915 was $141,276, although the net income was listed at $38,531.10. The 1920 return showed a gross income of $166,748, with net income of $72,823.89. The difference included expenses and the salary paid Lauder.

Taxes Increased $44,010.
On the ground that the corporation was not a personal service corporation additions to the tax paid of $14,574 in 1919, and of $29,622 in 1920, or a total of $44,010, were made and are sustained. Whether Lauder or his manager will have to stand this additional sum is for Morris and Lauder to determine.

"Counsel took the position," says the decision, "that Lauder employed the taxpayer to render services to him—that he retained, through it, the professional services of the Morris—rather than that the taxpayer paid him to act in his show. But we can find nothing in the evidence to justify such a conclusion. The arrangement did not differ from that between Barnum and the white whale, except that Lauder was paid a part of the profits if any were earned."

Managers Plenty, But One Lauder.
"If Lauder's voice had failed, the taxpayer could not have hired a substitute as the professional man could readily get a new clerk, nurse or craftsman. Lauder could easily find more managers—perhaps not so clever, but with sufficient ability to make his act a paying proposition. But where could Morris find another Lauder?"

M'GOWAN DROPS SUIT FOR INJUNCTION ON 'THIRD DEGREE'

Attorney Says Purpose, to Prevent Grilling on Robbery Indictment, Is Accomplished.

The suit filed by John L. McGowan of Kansas City to enjoin the St. Louis police from administering the "third degree" or taking Bertillon measurements upon his surrender to answer the indictment charging him with participation in the Mound City Trust Co. robbery on March 3, was dismissed by his attorney today in Circuit Judge Miller's court.

The suit was filed April 6, and on the following day, after a temporary restraining order had been issued, McGowan surrendered. Later he was released on $10,000 bond. Sigmund Bass, his attorney, told reporters that the suit was dismissed because its purpose had been accomplished and further, that it was directed against Chief of Police O'Brien and Chief of Detectives Hoagland, and that these officers had since been reduced.

GRIEVING MOTHER ENDS LIFE

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mrs. Bessie Katz, 28 years old, while temporarily insane, Dec. 29 last, hurled her two-week-old twin boys from a window of her third floor apartment. Then she leaped after the infants to the pavement. Both boys were killed. She was freed in homicide court. Last night, after months of mental torture her own body was found in a gas-filled room. Mrs. Katz disappeared from home early yesterday. The occupants of an apartment house traced the odor of gas to an apartment on the third floor. A patrolman broke in. Going to the kitchen he found Mrs. Katz in an arm chair, the back of which rested against a gas range. Four jets of the stove were open. The cracks of the windows and doors had been sealed with paper wadding. Mrs. Katz had grieved constantly over the loss of her babies and relatives feared she would become insane.

Maxims of a Modern Maid

EVEN when, or if, the single standard of morality is accepted generally, something tells us there are women who will argue that no "gentleman," whatever his right to a divorce, can refuse to let his wife get a divorce, alimony, the children and any other little perquisites lying handy.

First, a man is impressed by a woman's eyes; then her lips are the center of attraction; and by the time he gets around to noticing her chin he's usually married to it.

To the old-fashioned match-making mamma it used to be a recommendation that "he doesn't drink and he doesn't smoke." If the formula is ever employed today, one feels sure that the pronouns are changed.

A wife is an individual to whom her husband can be as rude as he pleases, without being—or even feeling—compelled to apologize.

A difference in moral code between husband and wife means an occasional violent storm, but for continuous nasty weather there's nothing to touch a difference in either grammar or table manners.

Nowadays, "platonic friendship" has a new spelling in four letters—"p-l-a"—but its hokum is the same old brand.

Careers

WHAT a lack of beauty there would have been in this old world had not many of its inhabitants been blessed with that particular spark of genius which calls them to a career! In all walks of life, Genius looks for novices to enroll them in the work of bettering and furthering the natural resources which have been placed at our disposal. Scientists, writers, inventors, artists—one can name hundreds of things that have been done by those choosing careers.

Everything you can think of, whether in the home or business or the arts, is truly a career. But the greatest of these is—Motherhood! That God-given gift to woman! And when she is doubly gifted and can write or paint or act or be an aid to science—then, indeed, is a Career a wonderful thing. But always, everywhere, for all time the greatest Career of all is the proud crown of Motherhood.

CHILDREN'S DIET

By Clyde B. Schuman
National Director, Nutrition Service, American Red Cross.

COOKING is frequently the most fruitful form of extravagance in the home. There is the poor cooking that may utterly spoil nutritious food; there is the danger of undercooking certain foods and overcooking others; there is the custom of cooking vegetables too long or in too much liquid which may result in destroying the valuable vitamins and in throwing away the valuable mineral salts which then "nourish" the drain and not human beings. If nutrition is a science, cooking is the accompanying art. On the one side the choice and on the other the preparation of food are both of importance.

What is food like when served on the table? Poorly cooked, it may affect the whole body detrimentally. Similar bodily rebellion against bad conditions will be brought about if food is eaten too frequently so that the digestive organs in self-defense refuse to function properly. Attractive preparation and good cooking aid digestion.

In thinking over combinations of foods remember that milk and cereal grains go together. The former helps to supplement and makes up the deficiencies of the latter, because milk supplies energy, protein, mineral salts and vitamins.

As the starch grains in cereal foods are sealed in cellulose, the outer walls must be burst in the cooking. The underlying principle of cereal-cooking is to stir the product into the right amount of boiling salted water, cook over high heat until it thickens, stirring almost continuously. Then set the vessel in boiling water or use a fireless cooker and cook as long as necessary—usually from one to three hours.

The preparation and cooking of vegetables is an important part of the art of nutrition and the art of cooking. They strain the water in which vegetables are cooked into the stock pot for soup. They scrub their tuber vegetables and cleanse thoroughly the others, using the valuable nutrient available in the peels and outer leaves instead of throwing it away.

There are certain principles which should be kept in mind in the preparation of food. If one wishes to extract flavors food is usually put in cold water, brought to the boiling point and simmered slowly. Isn't this what is so often done with vegetables? If we wish to extract the flavoring for soup such a procedure will give good results. But if we apply this to vegetables to be served, again we are liable to destroy some of the vitamins and to lose the mineral salts.

To serve vegetables, place them only in enough water to cook them and be careful never to overcook.

To serve tender cuts of meat at their best, they should be cooked at a high temperature for a short time and then the temperature lowered. This applies to roasting and broiling. Oven-broiled steaks, if this is possible, are delicious, but steaks may be pan-broiled if properly done and yet be delectable and healthful. Moist heat—simmering or boiling—on the other hand, dissolves tissue and turns it to gelatin.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Puts His Tongue to Use

Who never puts his tongue to use
For lack of knowledge has excuse.

Peter Rabbit.

PETER himself isn't likely to suffer from that complaint. Curiosity and a silent tongue seldom go together. "What good is a tongue to one who doesn't use it?" demands Peter, and that is a hard question to answer.

So early one morning, as Mrs. Robin was looking for just the right kind of dry grass near where Peter was sitting, he began putting that tongue of his to use.

"Mrs. Robin," said he, "every time I see you I am surprised that you appear so neat and clean."

For the minute Mrs. Robin forgot all about dry grass and nest building. Her bright eyes snapped.

"I want to know what you mean, Peter Rabbit!" she cried indignantly. "Why shouldn't I appear neat and clean? Why should you think I would be anything but neat and clean? Any one overhearing you might think that I have habits of untidiness. Explain yourself, Peter Rabbit!"

This Peter hastened to do.

"I didn't mean to even hint that you were not neat and clean, Mrs. Robin. Indeed, I didn't!" said he. "What I was thinking of was the way in which you shape your nest."

"Well, what about the way in which I shape my nest?" demanded Mrs. Robin. "What has that to do with keeping neat and clean?"

"Why, you make the walls of that nest of mud, don't you?" Peter asked.

"Certainly!" replied Mrs. Robin. "I haven't been able to find anything else as good. But what has that to do with the subject?"

"I want to know what you mean, Peter Rabbit!" she cried indignantly.

"For goodness sake, Peter Rabbit, do talk sense!" exclaimed Mrs. Robin. "Just because I use mud in my nest there is no reason why I should daub myself all up with it. Why you should expect my breast to be soiled with mud is more than I can understand. I suppose you think it queer that my back isn't muddy, too?"

"That is silly," declared Peter. "You don't use your back to work that mud into shape. Of course, I don't expect your back to be muddy."

"And I don't use my breast to work that mud into shape, either!" retorted Mrs. Robin. Peter sat erect and stared very hard at Mrs. Robin. "Now, what is the use of being untruthful?" he demanded.

"Who says I'm untruthful?" Mrs. Robin asked.

"Who says I'm untruthful?" Mrs. Robin asked.

"My, how the bright eyes of Mrs. Robin snapped and how very angry she looked!"

"Didn't you say that you don't use your breast in working that mud in your nest into shape?" demanded Peter.

"I said just that. What of it?" replied Mrs. Robin. "Only that if I've seen you once I've seen you a dozen times shaping that nest with your breast," declared Peter.

"If I've seen you once!"

By ALINE MICHAELS

ALWAYS someone to cheer the way, never alone we go, in the thoughts we think in the words we say that later to deeds will grow. Many our sighs in a midnight mood at the thought of a lonely fate, at our treasured fancies misinterpreted, at our visions that came too late. But still, with the glow of the morning's sun, wisdom once more comes back; counting the goals our toil has won, small seems the loss and lack. Always someone when straits were dire, someone of kind intent, eager to answer the soul's desire with the courage's warm heart lent. Always someone to make life sweet, touching the day with sun, making the shadow-shapes retreat, sensing the battle won. So has it been in the years gone by, so it will be to the end, banishing sorrow, and tear and sigh, always a steadfast friend!

Where Winter Lasts for Eight Months.

WAY up in the northlands, 70 miles above the Arctic Circle is the settlement of Rusko Ustye, generally regarded as the coldest spot in the inhabited world. It is the largest Russian settlement within 550 miles and consists of all of six houses. The inhabitants of Rusko Ustye have never seen a lamp. Their little huts are illuminated by the logs in the fireplace or by smoky lamps supplied with blubber. Their huts consist of walls made of logs or wicker, flanked with earth. The windows, such as they are, are made of skin or ice sheets. Some of the smoke of the fireplace escapes through a wooden chimney, covered by clay, to guard against fire.

During the winter these huts are uninhabited by the live stock, as well as by the members of the family. The cattle have their place in the home, as well as the children. When one mentions winter in Rusko Ustye, one does not speak casually of a season of three months, with a light snowfall and many compensating pleasures. Winter in this spot is a matter of eight months. During this time daytime only lasts two, or at the most, three hours. In every direction as far as the eye can reach, there are vast stretches of unbroken snow. In November and December the sun disappears altogether and there is merely a few hours of twilight to distinguish day from night. On the other hand the sun rarely disappears below the horizon at all, from April 21 to July 29.

It is needless to say that there is nothing vaguely resembling a forest in this district. The ground is permanently frozen a few feet below the surface. No native of this icy land has ever seen a tree grow. A flower is a thing utterly unknown.

Toward the end of May, the long winter is broken by the return of the birds in great flocks. There are geese, cranes, ducks, gulls, snipes. There is the white ptarmigan and the white owl. They arrive in a sudden, overwhelming influx, screaming and piping and the sound of their arrival is welcome indeed after the long and dreary winter. The world seems to come to life again with their return. For the short but welcome summer has arrived and the natives are well prepared to enjoy it.

CHAPTER 28. "IT WON'T BE FOR LONG."

WHEN Craig Cullum had gone—he had made only a brief and formal call—Mariana still sat behind the table, chin resting on her interlaced hands—and mused.

It had been some time since she had entertained an attractive young man alone at tea. She had found it interesting and piquant. Her romance-hungry heart, her innate coquetry, which had remained totally unused since the piquancy had worn off her marriage to Charles, had discovered a disturbing charm in the situation. She felt a delicious tremor of fear, too, as she had on the first night she had met Craig Cullum. Her conscience told her that dreaming of romance was one thing, but dallying with it as a reality was quite another. And she was Charles' wife, she reminded herself sternly.

But, despite her resolution to dismiss such thoughts before they became actually treacherous, she couldn't refrain from reviewing the conversation that had taken place between her and Cullum across the tea table. There had been no significance in any of it, but the starved soul of her endeavor to invest it with an illusion of romance, quite as an eager, sentimental, naive girl still in her teens might.

It proved discouraging business. Turn and twist Cullum's every sentence as she could, she could find nothing in any of them which signified more than a casual friendliness toward the wife of his good friend. Except that boyish flush when she had said banteringly: "It's plain to see that you're not in love!"... she couldn't quite account for that. Did it, perhaps, mean that he had a secret love and the secret was herself?

She wanted to hope so—and was shocked at her own admission. realization began to fight a little. She felt herself toward Charles.

She resolved to fight her fascination for the young man as a first expedient, she decided to give Charles more of her companionship and, by so doing, store herself to satisfy that tact with his wholesome personality.

So, she began calling for the club in the late afternoon, driving him home herself in the warm scented dusk of summer. It was characteristic Mariana that she didn't even in her innermost consciousness, that Craig Cullum's place at the club, his frequent ward drives with them, had dealt to her with her virgin lull.

As for Cullum, the days passed endlessly. His money and of Doris—now incredibly seemed—were the only things in his drab existence. He enjoyed his game of golf, Charles on days when he had no machines to play and pleasant to have in company home with his good friend, wife, who was always kind, sympathetic and justly to the eye.

But it seemed sometimes that he was less than a month here. He explained: "We have a few weeks and sail for in July."

HOW TO MAKE YOUR GARDEN GROW

By Paul A. Kohl.
Floriculturist, Missouri Botanical Garden.

NO. 6—THE FLOWER GARDEN.

It all depends upon what sort of a flower garden is wanted. It may be devoted to annuals, or, in other words, such plants as are grown from seed sown in the garden and which only bloom that same season and then die. It may be a garden in which only perennials are grown. Perennials are plants that grow each season, bloom and are frozen back to the ground during the winter, but come again from the roots the following spring. Very few perennials will bloom the first year from seed sown outdoors. For quicker results plants must be purchased. This results in a more expensive garden, but one that lasts for years if properly cared for. Perhaps the ideal type of flower garden is one in which both annuals and perennials are grown.

The preparation of the soil has been mentioned several times, so nothing more need be said here. Some annuals are readily grown from seed, others require a long season for their maximum development and on that account must be purchased from the florist, and then there are such plants that are so tender that while they are not raised from seed, they must be kept indoors during the winter.

The sweet alyssum is a plant that comes readily from seed and is admirably suited for planting in the front of taller plants. Another dwarf plant that goes well with the alyssum is the lobelia, but the seed

Raisin Pie!

Try mine today

I bake many different kinds of pies. There's none I'd rather stake my reputation on than my raisin pies.

Try one today—and you'll see why! At the restaurant, if you lunch away from home. Or for supper at home tonight.

Crust—golden, tender, flaky. Filling—juicy, racy, fruity. Goodness that satisfies! Have one tonight.

TODAY'S THE DAY.

The season opens up today. When Cleveland and the Browns play. To be among those present. We'll hear the ringing of the bat. While in the air we'll lose our hat. And everybody's hoping that The weather will be pleasant. We'll have the customary hand Dispensing music in the stand; The peanut boy will be on hand To sell his daily dozen. The hot-dog vendor will be there. Dispensing of his savory ware. While pennant bees will fill the air With their persistent buzzin'.

The densely populated tiers Will make the welkin ring with cheers, When Slater on the field appears. With confidence unshaken. And we will make a mental sketch Of winning pennants in the stretch. When home our husky heroes fetch. The well-known side of bacon.

TOO TRUE. See where the police guard for payrolls may be withdrawn. The coppers will be used to guard the payroll robbers instead, which isn't a bad little idea.

CAN'T BE DONE. The man on the sandbox says the municipal authorities may put a ban on circus parades, but we'd like to see them try to stop the Easter parade.

However, we hadn't thought of our new Alcalde when we said that. Vic can stop anything.

KANSAS CITY BANK MERGER TO BE INVESTIGATED

Absorption of Midwest Trust by Commerce Trust One of the Items on Attorney-General's List.

BANK TAKEN FROM HIM, PRESIDENT SAYS

Directors of Absorbed Institution Resist Payment of $1,000,000 in Notes They Gave in Deal.

BY CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 13.—It has become known here that information recently was submitted to Attorney-General Otto in Jefferson City to form the basis of an official investigation of alleged arbitrary abuse of power by J. C. Hughes, former State Finance Commissioner, by which a $2,250,000 trust company came into the possession of the Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City, then headed by William T. Kemper, now Democratic National Committee man from Missouri.

Hughes, now a vice president of the Commerce Trust Co., was the predecessor of Frank C. Mills, who was removed from the office of Finance Commissioner by Gov. Baker as a result of the confession of Roy T. Myers, former treasurer of the defunct Citizens Trust Co. of Gorin, Mo. Myers having asserted that Mills had permitted the company to operate although it was insolvent and that for this "action he was paid by officers of the company."

The information now in the hands of the Attorney-General was largely supplied by Donald W. Ross, former Deputy Finance Commissioner, who obtained his position in the department through the influence of Kemper. Ross has been connected in an inquiry here, the scope of which has extended beyond the information submitted to Otto.

What Ross Charges.

Ross in a statement to the Post-Dispatch, corroborated by former officers and directors of the Midwest Reserve Trust Co. of Kansas City, stated that in his presence at a meeting of Kansas City bankers Hughes threatened to use his power to close that bank and to prosecute its directors unless they consented to sign a contract that would enable the Commerce Trust Co. to take over all of its business without payment of any remuneration to its stockholders.

Involved in the transaction is a maze of intricate financial manipulation, dealings behind the closed doors of directors' rooms of big banks in which the public rarely has an opportunity to see. The details are expected to come out soon in suits pending in the Federal and State courts in Kansas City.

Through which other Kansas City banks are attempting to collect notes to the amount of $1,000,000 signed by directors of the Midwest, and which were taken by the Commerce over their "outlet" when it took over the Midwest.

The directors contend that the transaction was made as a matter of course without consideration and are void and they are resisting their collection.

Hughes Silent.

P. E. Laughlin, president of the Midwest at the time of the deal and now president of the Federal Trust Co., James F. Houlihan, a former J. Sweeney, director, and others interested, have corroborated Ross' statements and have added further details.

Hughes refused to discuss the matter and Kemper contended that the transaction was made as a matter of course and that the action complained of was taken to save the depositors from loss.

Midwest Was a Consolidation.

The Midwest Reserve Trust Co. was a consolidation of the Midwest National Bank and the National Reserve Bank. At the head of the former was Laughlin, who formerly was Deputy Bank Commissioner of Kansas, and of the latter, William Huttig, wealthy planing mill operator and mine operator of Kansas City. In the consolidated institution Huttig became chairman of the board and Laughlin became president.

Kansas City for many years has been known as a city in which great financial power was held by a few individuals through the Kansas City Clearing House Association. Under its organization members of the Clearing House Committee had intimate knowledge of the business of every bank which
